Farmer Thinks They Were Key

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Farmers Union says Jimmy Carter may have won a bigger share of the farm vote than many political analysts figured.

"Jimmy Carter built a base in Southern states, added several key industrial states, and then clinched the election with victories in the farm states of Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, Missouri, Arkansas and Texas," the NFU said in a newsletter.

The NFU view contrasted with that of American Farm Bureau Federation President Allan Grant who said the election results indicated farmers supported President Ford's agricultural policies.

Government Mulls Grizzly Sanctuary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced it will hold hearings next month on plans to set aside 20,000 square miles of Idaho, Washington, Montana and Wyoming as the living area America's grizzly bears need to survive.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service said the only significant grizzly populations remaining in the continental United States are in the proposed refuge area.

Slovenes Protest Austrian Census

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — Slovene minority groups in the province of Carinthia demonstrated Sunday to protest a nationwide language census aimed at determining the number of minorities living in Austria.

Police said the demonstrations centered around the provincial capital of Klagenfurt, where protesters burned census forms and temporarily blocked entrance to some polling stations. There were no arrests and order was soon restored, police said.

Japan Lets Foreign Autos Pollute

TOKYO (UPI) — Imported cars will be exempted for two years from Japan's strict exhaust emission control regulations effective April 1, 1978, government sources said Sunday.

The sources said the two-year exemption is primarily designed to ease criticism by foreign automakers and avert possible retaliatory action against Japanese automobile exports.

Continental Air Strike Near Over

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Continental's idled "proud bird" fleet will be flying the skies as early as Wednesday if new work contracts are signed this week by airline pilots who walked off their jobs 24 days ago.

Weekend discussions between representatives of the nation's seventh largest air carrier and the Air Line Pilots Association, representing the 1,086 striking pilots, ended with a tentative agreement to resume operations.

An airline spokesman said all that remains to get Continental in the air are signatures on the new contract worked out last week and signatures on the back-to-work agreement.

ALPA spokesman Bruce Plowman said flights could resume Wednesday, "and if not then, certainly this week, unless something unforeseen occurs."

Taxpayers Will Pay Some $3.6 Million More

Property Tax Rise: Near 30%

By CHAZY DOWALIBY
Freeman Staff

KINGSTON — The county's tentative budget for 1977 is $856,890 less than 1976 — but will cost the taxpayers $3,671,295 more than last year.

County budget officer William Dawark this morning released the proposed spending package which totals $56,103,601. That means about a 30 per cent increase in property taxes.

Last year's budget came in at about $57.6 million and raised county taxes by 32 per cent.

The reason for the tax increase is that there is almost no surplus money left in the county treasury.

The 1976 budget reflected a $5 million anticipated surplus. That figure was off by about $1.7 million, which will also have to be made up in 1977.

Dawark said that there was no way yet to tell how much, if any, additional money the county will have when 1976 final spending figures are in. But he did admit that there had been no compensation for the $1-million shortage in next year's spending proposal.

Also not included in the tentative '77 budget are any allowances for salary or benefit increases to the county's 1,200 employees. They are currently at an impasse in contract negotiations with the county.

The legislature's finance committee trimmed some $5.6 million off original department spending requests for next year. They chopped $2,263,937 from the social services budget, holding spending there at the 1976 level of $24.6.

Additional reductions were also made in the highway department where $1,699,513 was cut — mostly for proposed new positions — the Sheriff's department, which lost $207,595 and mental health programs, which were cut $105,648.

The proposed budget does reflect a .5 per cent increase in the county sales tax which will go into effect March 1, 1977. This will bring the overall sales tax to 5.5 per cent in the county and 7.5 per cent in the city of Kingston.

Dawark also pointed out that the legislature will have to consider the possibility of cutbacks in state aid, when New York's fiscal budget comes out next April. This could mean even more drastic curtailment of services within such agencies as social services, highway, public health and probation.

In addition to the cuts already made, the finance committee has asked the full legislature to consider a number of other proposed service cuts, the most controversial of which may be the elimination of Sheriff's road patrols.

There are currently 13 full-time officers, and a fleet of vehicles used for road patrol throughout the county.

Dawark stated that most counties, including neighboring Dutchess and Orange, use their Sheriff's departments only for oversight of the jail and court duty.

The finance committee estimates that cutting the highway patrol would save about $289,130 next year.

Also recommended was the reduction of $350,000 of crushed stone and road repair materials from the highway department budget, the restructuring or absorption into another department of the $25,000 per year Industrial Development and Publicity department, elimination of a full or part-time district attorney and elimination of the consumer affairs branch of the D.A.'s office.

Accompanying the four-page summary report of the 196 page budget was a chart.

Vogt Says Lawyer Hid Drug Case Witness

DA: 'Witness Tampering'

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman Staff

KINGSTON — Kingston lawyer Frank Martocci has been accused by Ulster County District Attorney Francis J. Vogt of "tampering with a witness" who was critical to the prosecution's recent case against Woodstock drug dealer Jeffrey Reeves, charged in connection with the state's biggest uncovered cocaine cache.

First Assistant District Attorney Michael Kavanagh, who won a conviction in the case in spite of the fact that his star witness, Reeves' former common-law wife, Judith Cross, failed to show up to testify, said defense attorney Martocci "secreted" the witness, who hid out in a Rhode Island motel throughout the trial.

Vogt and Kavanagh said they have a statement, signed by Ms. Cross, in which she states: "I was in touch with him (Martocci) the whole time I was away. He thanked me for cooperating. He told me to keep in touch, everything was going fine."

The young woman told the district attorney's office that she had been "counselled" by Martocci and that as a result of this counselling, she fled to Connecticut and hid out in Rhode Island during the trial.

Vogt said he was incensed by the fact that Martocci wanted Ulster County Judge Raymond J. Mino to hold the prosecution responsible for the witness's failure to appear.

"Martocci had it in his power to keep her from testifying and planted the inference with the jury that the district attorney had spirited her away," Vogt explained.

Martocci meanwhile claims that in 1974 the DA's office granted Ms. Cross immunity if she would testify. "Then two years later they wanted her as a witness," he said, suggesting that if that were the case, she should have been held as a material witness.

Martocci acknowledged to the Freeman that he had been in touch with Ms. Cross, claiming she called him. He said he told her at the time to "see a lawyer."

Reeves, who was sentenced in Ulster County Court Friday to a mandatory term of from 15 years to life in prison, is 90 per cent blind, according to Martocci, who asked Judge Mino to recommend that the 31-year-old man be sent to a rehabilitation center at Fishkill, rather than to state prison.

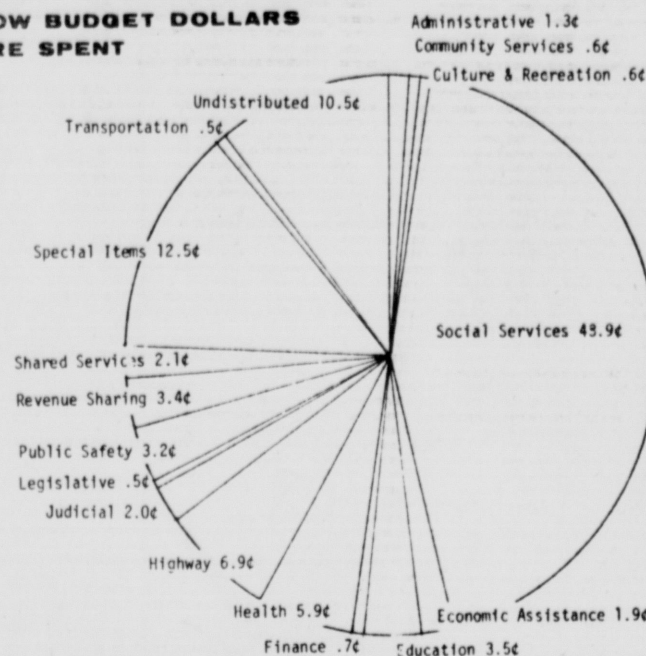

Martocci said he will appeal the verdict and made a motion to set it aside. Judge Mino denied the move.

Martocci's motion was on the grounds that the DA's office secreted the witness. Kavanagh provided the court with an answering affidavit in which the young woman's statement is made concerning Martocci's counselling of her. The record has been filed with the county clerk's office.

Reeves was arrested in March, 1974 at Kennedy Airport as he was returning from South America, where he fled a year before when a search warrant was issued and two and one-half pounds of cocaine was found at his home.

CEMENTON — The public hearing on the Power Authority of the State of New York's application to build a nuclear power plant in Cementon will be held jointly by state and federal agencies, the first such joint hearing in New York and only the second nationally.

Although the location for the hearing hasn't been chosen, the date for public statements to begin has been "firmly fixed" at Jan. 4, according to a news release from the state Department of Public Service.

MARKETBASKET

Food Costs Rise .3 Per Cent

KINGSTON — Feeding a family of four in Kingston cost an extra 17 cents last week.

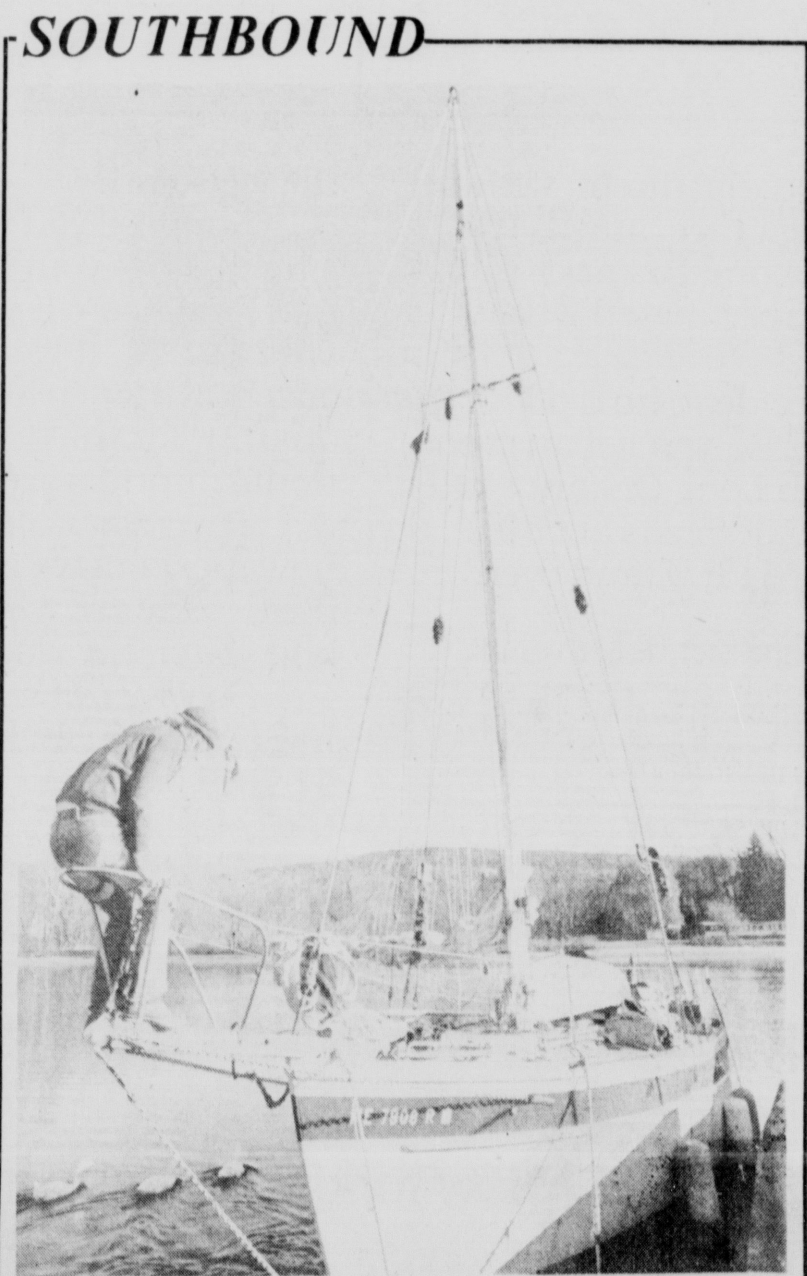

The Consumer Information Service branch of the District Attorney's office reported this morning that food prices in the city rose .3 per cent for the week ending Nov. 13.

That marked the second consecutive increase after a month-long spiral. The 41-item market basket was priced at $64.36 last week, compared to $64.19 for the week ending Nov. 6.

The market basket index is based on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's moderate family food plan and includes various amounts of foods which should be consumed in order to provide a nutritious diet.

The categories which showed the most marked increases last week were dairy products, up 3.8 per cent, canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, up 6 per cent and beverages, up .2 per cent.

The largest decrease was in the cost of fresh fruits and vegetables, which fell 4.6 per cent.

Man Veers into Bus, Is Killed

MONROE, N.Y. (UPI) — A man was killed and two women were injured Sunday when a car and a chartered bus collided in Route 17 near this Orange County community.

State police identified the dead man as Leon Sutherland, 52, of Middletown, the driver and lone occupant of the car. Troopers said Sutherland's car veered into the opposite lane before the collision.

Twenty two of the 24 passengers aboard the were treated and released from local hospitals. Two women were admitted but their injuries were not serious. The passengers were returning to New York City after a tour of Sullivan County. The bus had been chartered from the Equipment Co., Maplewood, N.J.

Troopers said that after the initial collision, the bus crashed into a earthen bank. Traffic on Route 17 was delayed for three hours while the accident site was cleared.

Sutherland lived at 62 W. Main St.

Held For Theft

A Liberty man who allegedly broke a window in the Melbourne Hotel, Briggs Highway, early Sunday morning and made off with $1,790 in cash and jewelry in Ulster County Jail today in lieu of $5,000 bail.

Ellenville State Police said investigation led to the recovery of the numerous items taken and the arrest of Roy Kahn, 29, who allegedly entered the room of Jack Weinblatt, L. I.

He is charged with stealing $880 in cash, a $685 diamond ring, Diamond earrings valued at $600, gold earrings at $140, a gold bracelet at $420 and a $65 silver watch.

Deer Jacking

Three county men, all relatives, were arrested by Department of Environmental Conservation authorities early Saturday morning on charges of deer jacking.

Joseph W. Banks, Jr. of Ulster Park, his brother Ralph J. Banks, Bloomington and their brother-in-law, Louis C. Hasbrouck, Kingston, were all arrested for hunting deer with the aid of an artificial light at 2 a.m. Saturday on Hurley Mountain Road in Marletown.

The trio was arraigned before Marletown justice Robert Diamond and remanded to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail. Joseph Banks was also charged driving while intoxicated and his bail was set at $550.

The men were carrying shotguns when arrested. They will re-appear in court on Nov. 16.

Women Arrested

Two area women were arrested over the weekend on charges of issuing fraudulent checks.

Ulster County Sheriff Department arrested Yvonne Longworthy, Ulster Landing, who was released on $50 bail pending another court appearance.

Kathryn Purtell, of High Falls was also arrested, fined $25 and made restitution.

Driver Charged

Arthur Davis, 56 Abeel St., Kingston, was arrested Sunday by Kingston City Police and charged with driving while intoxicated, having an uninsured motor vehicle, improper plates, unregistered motor vehicle, leaving the scene of an accident and being an unlicensed operator.

Davis was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $250 bail pending a court appearance today.

The arrest was made on a warrant charging him in connection with a June 26 accident on Gill Street.

Second Arrest

A second man has been arrested by Ellenville Police in connection with the Oct. 19 burglary of the Toy Factory, Berne Road, Ellenville.

Rinaldo S. Yerkes of Brownell Trailer Park, Ulster Heights was apprehended at 2:30 a.m. Sunday by Officer William Reilly.

The 16-year-old is in the Ellenville lockup awaiting arraignment.

Earlier police arrested Walter Ducker of Ellenville, RD 1 and charged him with burglary. He is in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail.

Yerkes was said to be Ducker's accomplice.

Rum Charge

Ellenville Police also arrested Thomas Whitaker of 246 Canal St., Sunday and charged him with unlawfully dealing with a minor.

He is alleged to have given a 15-year-old a half-pint of rum Saturday night on Center Street in the village.

Whitaker is scheduled for re-appearance in Ellenville Court, according to arresting officer, Richard Hobart.

A Stone Ridge woman is in Ulster County Jail today in lieu of $500 bail, charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Karen Swart of Cottekill Road, was arrested by Kingston City Police on a warrant Saturday night.

Saugerties Police arrested a Palenville man early today and charged him with driving while intoxicated following a one-car accident on Route 32 in Quarryville.

Louis J. Garcia of Route 23, was reportedly going north on Route 32 when he went off the shoulder of the road and struck a rock cut.

Bail was set at $50, pending a re-appearance in court.

Kingston firemen were called out twice Sunday afternoon to extinguish a fire in a pile of dead trees and brush in back of 51 Fairview Ave. and in a trash packer truck at Spada Sanitation, North Street.

Both fires were stubborn and firemen were on the scene at Fairview Avenue from 12:14 to 1:45 p.m. and at North Street from 3:49 to 4:52 p.m.

The city fire department also extinguished a car fire on Greenkill Avenue which did extensive damage to a vehicle owned by Donald Wenzel of Shufeldt Street.

Area Thefts

• Tools from Richie's Arco Station, Rosendale.

• A lawn ornament from the property of Philip Rielly, Denver Road, Cherry Hill.

• Two leather waist coats from C. C. Leatherback, 34 North Front St., Kingston, valued at $200.

• A $65 boys' 20-inch bicycle from the property of Mrs. Michael Spada, 46 Crane St., Kingston.

Rhodesian Talks Stall

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Black nationalist leaders split at the Rhodesia peace talks today on a British compromise timetable for setting up majority rule in that African country now governed by the white minority.

Conference chairman Ivor Richard presented a formula to a 20-minute plenary session calling for a flexible transitional period of from 12 to 15 months in the timetable for independence under majority rule.

The militant "Patriotic Front" of Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo said Britain refuses to commit itself to a binding date.

Scouts: Busywork Isn't Byword

United Way

Once upon a time, way back when, those Brownie points and Cadette pins were pretty important. But, today, 60 years after Ulster County's first Girl Scouts began "imitating" their male counterparts, that early emphasis has taken a back seat to another philosophy.

The aim in 1976 is better people; not better knot tiers; not better fire builders; not better artists, but better people. The purpose of Scouting for its girls is not just to look, but to see; not just to hear, but to listen; not just to touch, but to feel.

Local executive director Maryella Moorhead puts it this way: "Now we emphasize a focus on the girl herself. We try to meet her needs. We're incorporating many new concepts in the program that benefit the girls, and train them to be active in the community as adults."

The emphases, today, then, are on developing values, working in and for the community, relating to others, and deepening self-awareness.

Girl Scouting has come a long way from the "busy work" of arts and crafts, earning service badges, and camping out. But, then, it's been a long time since the first troops in the county put down tent stakes in 1916 in Kingston, Ellenville and Walkill.

This year, 33,200 girls are involved in 196 troops here, and some 800 adult volunteers spearhead their activities.

"There's a lot of flexibility in Scouting today," said the executive director. "Girls as young as eighth graders travel to the West Coast, camping on the way out and back and seeing the interesting points of the country. Our program for Associate Scouts at older age levels is quite free-wheeling. There's major emphasis on values and careers in our programs, which are real boons to girls with special interests."

Scouts here have gone to marine biology camps in Florida, to learn aids to the handicapped and work with the mentally retarded in Arkansas, to be trained in the visual arts in Kansas City. One of the newer programs is a Preview of Education for Parenthood. Another, in today's highly mobile society, is the Ambassador program, geared to girls moving to a new community.

Scouting today is preparing girls for the future by involving them in helping neighborhood service projects. One local troop works with area nursing homes in cooperation with the "Adopt a Grandparent" program of the Red Cross. Another works with family type homes that serve mentally retarded adults' a program that has proved satisfying to both the Girl Scouts and residents involved.

Camping is still popular, of course, but many of today's camps stress educational and career programs over horseback riding and sports. And Ulster County's own Camp Wendy is alive and well—still the apple of the local Council's eye and one of its major selling points.

That, however, is as it should be. From the beginning, conservation and ecology have interested Girl Scouts. That concern is still evident today in the "I SUPPORT WILDERNESS" placard that dominates the pinepaneled and white brick walls of the County Council's offices at 411 Washington Avenue.

For Maryella Moorhead, the success of any activity undertaken in Scouting depends on how effectively troop leaders work with their girls. And even she is quick to admit that one of the greatest needs locally is for more volunteers. "Money, adequate financing, is always a problem," she said, "but, more than that, we could use people. Not just leaders and assistants, but workers of all types. We need board and committee people for planning, public relations, training."

One source of help for the Girl Scouts has long been the United Way. Dependence on the agency is considerable since 30 per cent of the Scouting budget comes from the coffers of public pledges to United Way. The remainder is amassed from those annual cookie sales, eagerly awaited by sweet tooth addicts, and camp fees and individual donations.

Still the largest voluntary organization of its kind for girls, still offering fun and the joy of friendships, Scouting today also provides an outlet for creative action, and encourages girls to accept challenge without the fear of failure. It gives them international opportunities to travel and work.

It is discovery, adventure, action, self-awareness, commitment, and sharing. But it is also something more.

"How good a Scout you are, how many badges you have earned, what rank you have achieved," said Mrs. Moorhead, "is not as important as what kind of person you are."

"That's Scouting today. Not camping in Wyoming, but being a person who cares about other people and wants to help them. Being a person who wants to be trained to be active with people now, as a girl from 6 through 17, and later as an adult in your community."

City Merchants Protest

Businessmen Oppose Guard Move

KINGSTON — The Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association has added its voice to local opposition mounting against a move that would shift New York National Guard headquarters from Kingston to Poughkeepsie.

Taking exception to published statements of area guard officials that no "local" opposition exists, the KUBA notified Gen. Vito J. Castellano in a letter this week that "vigorous opposition exists among our local businessmen."

Shifting general headquarters and a headquarters battery of the 1st Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, to Poughkeepsie in return for one firing battery would be "unwise to say the least," the KUBA letter said.

Reportedly, the shift already has been approved by Gen. Castellano, chief of staff to Gov. Hugh L. Carey, and has been forwarded to Washington for final approval of the National Guard Bureau.

The move would "contribute to the current inflationary spiral and undermine our economic base, resulting in further loss of jobs and a decrease of spendable income," KUBA President Jeffrey M. Fredenberg said.

The proposed move was initiated by the 156th's commander, Lt. Col. Otto A. Schaedlich, a Poughkeepsie resident, who argued that Poughkeepsie's in-city armory would be better suited to headquarters uses and that Kingston's more spacious facilities would be ideal for training.

Opponents have argued that the unit and its predecessors have been based in Kingston as far back as 1658, when the Band of the Wiltwycke was formed.

"We, as members of the business community, are proud of our guard unit and consider them to be a valuable asset to our economic community as well as good friends and neighbors," the KUBA said.

A similar letter of opposition was sent Gen. Castellano last week by the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County.

Carter's Church Accepts Blacks

PLAINS, Ga. (UPI) — Eleven years ago, Jimmy Carter and his family stood almost alone in seeking to accept blacks to the Plains Baptist Church. Sunday, the congregation voted almost 2-1 with the president-elect to admit "all persons who want to worship Jesus Christ."

The vote was a triumph for Carter, whom church members described as playing a peacemaking role Sunday.

During a members-only, nearly three-hour meeting, the congregation voted by secret ballot to overrule their deacons and retain pastor Bruce Edwards and rescind a 1965 resolution barring "Negroes and other civil rights agitators."

"I'm proud of my church, God's church," a smiling Carter told a crowd huddled outside the church in a chilly rain. Among them were three robbed members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Six hours later, Roger Sessoms Jr., 29, a black tourist from Selma, N.C., walked in just before Edward's sermon and took a seat in the second row just ahead of Carter. There was little noticeable attention among the worshipers as the formerly all white congregation was integrated.

"Thank you for coming. I'm glad you came tonight," Carter told Sessoms after the meeting. Sessoms said he had nothing to do with the Rev. Clennon King, a black parttime nondenominational minister from Albany, Ga., 40 miles away, who faced locked doors on two consecutive Sundays when he tried to integrate the church.

"He's a dingbat," Sessoms said.

King, wearing a clerical collar, expressed delight — and some astonishment — at the vote.

"It vindicated the church. It vindicated the people of Plains," he said. "They (the people of the south) may growl and grumble but they're the sweetest white folks on earth."

He said he would be present next Sunday to apply for membership.

Carter, his family and one other person, were the only members to vote against the 1965 resolution at a time of racial unrest and civil rights demonstrations.

At the time, Carter was preparing to run for governor.

Infrequently during Carter's presidential campaign, blacks attended the church, but no crisis arose until King announced his intention eight days before the election to seek membership.

The deacons dismissed Edwards for his outspoken support of admitting blacks. It was that vote that led to the church conference.

Georgia State Sen. Hugh Carter, a cousin of the president-elect as well as a deacon and clerk of the congregation, stood on the steps of the church and announced the vote: 120 to 66 to admit "all persons who want to worship Jesus Christ," 107 to 84 to retain Edwards and unanimous to set up a committee of the pastor and four deacons to make recommendations about membership applications.

Church members said Carter spoke several times in the meeting, described as "tense, quiet...but with no animosity."

They said Carter played a peacemaking role. "I'm the cause of all this," Clarence Dodson, a deacon and teacher of a men's Bible class, quoted Carter as saying. Carter said he would, as is the custom for Baptists who move, transfer his membership to Washington in January but wanted to return to his lifelong church to worship frequently.

New Paltz Is A Big Disaster

Dear Editor:
In answer to letter of Alan Herbst of Nov. 10:

Let us talk facts, not personalities. The people will be the final judge of the true facts concerning the College at New Paltz. Ask anybody who has observed the conduct and maneuvering of the college administration, the department of a minority of the college students and their camp followers who are attracted to this community, the lack of discipline, or concern, for the civil rights of the local citizens, and the enormous local tax burden they generate.

The College as operated, during the past 10 years, is the biggest disaster that ever befell southern Ulster County.

It is not a question who started the trouble on Oct. 16. The trouble was encouraged, aided, abetted and fostered by the students and their cohorts. The college student could have walked away from the trouble and the riot would have quickly come to an end. The police could not walk away.

It is a good thing that a majority of the 9,000 college enrollment was not present at the riot.

The college for the past decade has operated on the ancient theory that the king can do no wrong.

This consciousness Frankenstein has done more harm to New Paltz than all other forces of man and nature combined.

When he speaks of cooperation with the police and local authorities, does he know about the college strike when the college forbade and refused the aid and help of the local police, sheriff's office, and New York State troopers to bring it under control?

Did the strikers ever pay our taxpayers for:

1) The $4,000 phone bill run up by the striking students, calling China, Russia, etc.

2) The furniture, carpet, drapes and equipment, wantonly destroyed.

3) The filth created by urination and defecation throughout the building they occupied.

I am bringing out the facts which the college crowd has so long covered up to maintain the thin veneer of respectability they have so long enjoyed. The college has too long fostered a disservice upon New Paltz. It is more than non-service. It is betrayal of their sacred trust.

Nyquist is on the "hot seat." Boyer will soon be thereon.

The administration is unjust to the students. What did the Administration do about:

1) That professor who was on the payroll for full time work when he had two other full time, salaried positions?

Marbletown Zoning Confronted

Dear Editor:
The Town Board of Marbletown has finally been confronted, head on, publicly, with the issue of enforcement of the town's zoning ordinance.

This came about at the Budget Hearing and the Town Board Meeting a few days later. The board must replace the present zoning inspector (ZI) at the end of the year. At the budget hearing the town attorney and I stressed the importance of preparing a job specification outlining all the position requirements, stating that the ZI position must be considered as a full-time job, not as a part-time job as expressed by the supervisor, and that an appropriate salary be provided knowing that it will cost the ZI $2,500 a year to operate his car.

We pointed out that dissatisfaction with zoning was due in part to the lack of violator prosecution, a matter completely the responsibility of the zoning inspector. (Of course, the town attorney handles the actual court work for the ZI.)

The town attorney indicated that insufficient funds were budgeted for such anticipated legal work.

At the Nov. 17 town board meeting it was ascertained that the board had passed the new budget the night before at a private meeting. The ZI salary had been upped from $7,500 to $8,000, a minor response to the arguments. No increase in the town attorney salary, nor any provision for increased violator prosecutions.

I spoke again at this board meeting

Ruthless Doctors Dealt With

Dear Editor:

The current controversy over amphetamines and related drugs is sadly true and nothing pleased me more than to see Washington finally take action against ruthless physicians.

The biggest problem with amphetamines is that they do produce a feeling of "well being" and do decrease the appetite. By heightening the level of physical and mental activity amphetamines elevate the mood, reduce feelings of fatigue, and facilitate concentration.

Amphetamines, in fact, are so good that they are the leading drug of abuse in Sweden and Japan. Only extremely tight security in the U.S. has prevented them from being number one here also.

The problem with amphetamines is that tolerance develops rapidly, it leads to malnutrition, and severe behavioral consequences often result. When someone stops taking amphetamines it results in fatigue, depression, and hunger. You do not see withdrawal symptoms, as with narcotics. But amphetamine psychosis that results when a chronic am-

2) That professor who committed larceny and was convicted by a jury, after trial, for stealing shirts from a local merchant. He was rewarded by the college with a promotion.

3) That professor who was in charge of African studies for many years, when he did not have a diploma or proper qualifications.

4) That college student, imported from Africa to play soccer, who in his second year committed a robbery and was taken before the local Justice of the Peace; the members of the faculty interceded and requested the Judge to parole him in their ed custody. That same day he attempted to rape a white girl and raced over to the home of Howard Grimm, seized an axe and cut the head off of our leading citizen. He was rewarded by sending him back to Africa, after somehow getting him on Social Security payroll for the rest of his life.

The college is breaking the backs of the local citizens for the following reasons, among others:

1) Necessitating a police force about eight times the cost of our neighboring Town of Lloyd.

2) Instead of building upon their own grounds, they bought about three dozen properties with buildings thereon and eroded our tax base.

3) Sponging upon the village for a low rate for water and sewer use. They should have their own water and sewer. (This subject will be the grounds for a future exposure.)

4) The village municipal lot used to contain metered parking spaces. The meters have been removed and now the college students flood the parking lot. The college should provide necessary parking for all students.

We should cease glorifying the minorities.

Section 310 of the Education Law provides that no appeal shall be taken from the decisions of the Commissioner.

Webster's dictionary, among other things, recites college—a "body of clergy living together —'n'. A college is a place to prepare for the purpose of life on the foundation of truth and loyalty. Today the educational institutions operate on a wrong set of values, being materialistic and selfish. They have eliminated American History as a basic requirement. They have deviated from the rudimentary course.

We cannot compromise with the devil.

Truth will prevail and we are going to win the battle.

on the importance of seeking compliance with zoning laws and reminded the board members that they had the sworn to uphold town law. The audience understood but I wonder if the board did. Already, it was pointed out, candidates for the position had been interviewed...this before digesting the job specification I'd sent in and before receiving the one being prepared by the town attorney. Nor had the board contacted the chairman of the planning Board or the chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals, as it said it would, to obtain their slants of the position requirements.

Evidently the town board is setting the stage to camouflage its real feeling about zoning enforcement. In short it is ready to bamboozle the public for yet another year. Outwardly it wishes to create a posture of wanting a good zoning inspector because of the substantial increase from this year's actual salary of $2,500 to next year's potential maximum salary of $8,000. It is hoping that this "smokescreen" will conceal its gutlessness. After all, if the board wanted compliance it would provide all the funds necessary to achieve it.

The purpose of this letter is obvious. It is to expose the town board for the shallowness of its actions. If by March of 1977 the new zoning inspector does not have two or three cases already in court, we will all know of the deception and where to place responsibility.

Good Works Make Jobs

WASHINGTON - In the waning days of the late political campaign the accidental President found himself in the Pacific Northwest telling the aircraft workers that, thanks to the Administration's environmental noise standards, the airline industry will have to scrap its older jets, buy new silent swifties and thereby more jobs will be created for people in that region of the country. It was a strange statement by the head of an Administration which had opposed environmental protections on the grounds that they cost jobs and slow down the economy.

Two strip mining bills were vetoed by Ford on those grounds. As with the specifics of noise abatement and airplanes, it should have been obvious that, if strip mining is prohibited, deep tunneling which needs more new machinery and more manpower will have to be used.

If the airlines must scrap half their jets and the coal industry isn't allowed to use the cheapest technology available to it, airplanes are going to cost more and so is coal and electricity and everything else made from coal. But raising the prices doesn't axiomatically cost jobs. Nor does it cause inflation.

Inflation is when all the prices rise, when the price level rises. Prices for individual products rise for all kinds of reasons such as improved quality, temporary shortages, strikes by workers making the same thing in competitive shops and on and on.

Instead of howling at "the bird and bunny crowd," or railing at "environmental puritanism" as this month's Fortune does, it might help to calculate the benefits as well as the costs. Unhappily, the traditional bookkeeping of the Western World is only set up to figure costs.

"Eighty-one industrial plants employing 18,000 people have been forced closed," Fortune tells us, but makes no estimate of how many jobs mandatory environmental standards have created. When the advocates of pig-sty air and green-scum drinking water weep about the costs, they don't explain that those so-called costs constitute the paychecks of workers in the new industries created by environmental sissies.

"... the cumulative costs of pollution abatement could lie in the trillion dollar range by the middle of the Eighties - comparable to the outlays for defense or education." Unthinkable that we should spend that kind of money to satisfy the Ferdinand and the Bull complexes of people who won't settle for Airwick but want the sweet zephyrs the poets once sniffed "The health-at-any-price view," sneers Fortune, which has no objection to defense at any price. Yet we have every reason to believe that our toxic environment takes far more American lives every year than the Russians do.

The economic effects of spending money on war material and munitions and spending it on preserving the environment are quite similar. The social and political consequences are not, although both kinds of expenditures do create employment: You'll also recall that toward the end, Ford and Dole were both flitting about the country explaining to war workers what a Democratic cut in the Pentagon's allowance would mean in terms of jobs, not in terms of national security. The Democrats aren't likely to reduce arms expenditures, but as long as both parties are committed to achieving and regulating prosperity through government spending, it's very important that arms not be allowed to be the only or the most important form that spending can take. Sums comparable to those wasted in the Pentagon are being wasted in education and medicine and, although non-military spending makes no difference in narrowly economic terms, the pluses should be self-evident. The good it will do aside, it's very important that billions for water treatment plants and other non-war objectives remain popular and respectable.

Even so, the economy and sanity would be better served if our environmental efforts were carried out less wastefully and less harmfully. Most environmental regulation favors currently existing large corporations if for no other reason than they have the dollar volume to handle the paper work and red tape. Moreover, environmental regulation can raise the start-up costs of going into business, thereby discouraging new competition for older, established giants.

The pro pig-sty crowd at Fortune and elsewhere have a point when they bring up these kinds of objections. They also make sense when they say that the same environmental objectives can be reached, not by regulation and the clanking bureaucracy that implies, but by some sort of use tax. Companies that pollute are charged or taxed for the costs of undoing their mess. Companies that don't pollute, don't pay. It's not much different than a city government saying to a factory, We charge so much per pound to haul your garbage off. Or you can hire a scavenger to take care of the mess yourself, or you can develop a process in your factory so that you don't have any garbage.

Standard regulatory structures and procedures can't be applied to problems like the environment. We have to learn how to regulate without so many pernicious side effects. We have to, because there is a bit of Ferdinand in most of us. Besides, we need the jobs.

Pure Velvet for Jocko

In the College of Hard Knocks, Jocko McCormack has a doctorate. He has walked all the stony paths in his bare feet. He is a tall fiftyish man who laughs his way through life because he believes that having a lovely wife like Lorna, a well-muscled son like Sean, and a house with a big game room in the cellar is pure velvet.

He grew up on Boston's South Side, proud, defiant and Irish. He was nine when a big boy beat him up in a schoolyard. Jocko's father took his dog away. "You can have him back when you win a fight with that kid," he said.

Jocko battled the kid 10 times in two days. McCormack had a shiner, a split lip and assorted bruises. He lost all his fights except the last one. When he won, he stood before his father, blinking the tears away. "Now," he said softly, "can I have my dog back?"

Life would be like that. Jobs, promotions, money - each was attained the hard way. The wrong things - gambling and women - were easy. The morning after Pearl Harbor, Jocko enlisted in the Navy. Within nine days he was aboard the heavy cruiser Quincy. He hadn't learned how to tie a sailor's tie.

In August, 1942, Quincy patrolled the south side of Savo Island with cruisers Vincennes, Astoria and Canberra. When the Tokyo night express roared down the slot at 26 knots, nobody appeared to be ready. The Japanese sunk three cruisers, including Quincy.

McCormack felt the hits, ran up the high side of the deck, and scrambled off-

He clung to a floating desk for six hours. Destroyer Blue plucked him out of the oily sea. Later, Blue was sunk.

Jocko was a gunner's mate. He was put aboard a British ship, H.M. Hourangi. When she was out of Pearl Harbor, he asked where he was going. "We're going to Iceland to pick up some tanks and trucks for the Russians. We deliver at Archangel."

North of Norway, icebergs appeared out of blizzards. Freezing daylight lasted all day and all night. German bombers appeared. Hourangi took a brace of hits and went up in flames.

No one could live more than three minutes in the water. McCormack squeezed into a rickety lifeboat. He began to think he was hard luck for the Allies. Three days later, a Canadian corvette found Jocko and the lifeboat.

He wasn't half-dead. He was half-alive. There's a difference. The British sent him to New York. He was put aboard the brand new battleship Iowa. "I wonder what will happen to this tub?" he asked.

Iowa left Bayonne for gunnery and maneuverability tests off the coast of Maine. There are a lot of rocks around Casco Bay. Iowa found one and tore 180 feet out of her hull. She limped to Boston Navy Yard.

McCormack was transferred to light cruiser Biloxi at Newport News. He reported first to a tavern: A British sailor was boasting that the Americans never get into a war until the English have won it.

Jocko bought the man four double

Scotches. He dragged him next door to a tattoo shop. "Put an American flag on this Limey's chest," he ordered. "Make it big and make it wave."

It was done. For this, Jocko was court-martialed. The testimony was so confusing that he was acquitted. He reported aboard Biloxi and saluted the officer of the deck. "Doomed," he said.

"What's that, sailor?" "Doomed," McCormack said. "Get below before I put you on report." Biloxi fought well at the Gilberts and Marshalls. Near the end of the war, she was patrolling off Okinawa. McCormack was standing at the fantail. Everyone heard the Kamikaze coming out of the sun. He ran forward to his gun station. A fragmentation bomb hurled splinters of steel. Biloxi survived. Jocko had 17 wounds.

He sells food contracts to stadiums and tracks for Canteen. Jocko does well. A sore under his tongue refused to heal. Cancer. Surgeons told him he might live for eight months if he would let them remove the tongue and one side of the jaw.

"No," he said. "Eight months is nothing." He found a cancer specialist who tried implanting a radium active wire in the tongue. Then he removed all lymphs and muscles from jaw to shoulder.

They say if you live five years cancer-free you're pretty safe. Next month a big guy in Framingham, Mass., will celebrate his fifth birthday. He won't drink to it. That's the past. What he has now is pure velvet.

Crimes By CIA's Employees

WASHINGTON — For over 20 years, the Justice Dept. has been winking at crimes committed by employees of the Central Intelligence Agency. Even serious crimes and felonies unrelated to official duties have been ignored.

This is the conclusion of a still secret report compiled by the House Government Information and Individual Rights subcommittee. The congressional investigators were so shocked by the Justice Dept.'s leniency that they recommended a "Special Prosecutor be appointed to prosecute illegal activities of intelligence agency personnel."

An independent prosecutor is needed, the report bluntly states, because the Justice Dept. has failed to move even in instances where there were "widespread admissions" of criminal activity and "the illegality by the intelligence personnel (were) unrelated to their job activities."

"The Justice Department has assisted in setting the CIA above the law," the report continues, "by allowing the CIA to decide which cases would be too sensitive to prosecute, and by allowing the CIA to withhold whatever information it sees fit."

The Justice Dept.'s softness on the CIA dates from a 1954 agreement between the two agencies which, in effect, gave the CIA the right to block a prosecution or keep a crime secret in the name of "national security."

A year later, Congress passed a law requiring government agency heads to report the illegal activities of their employees to the Justice Dept. The CIA, however, has rarely complied.

"Given the CIA's self interest," states the congressional report, "it is not surprising that the CIA chose to permit the prosecution of but very few cases and found much of its (illegality) too sensitive to reveal."

Between 1954 and 1974, according to CIA files obtained by the subcommittee, there were at least 31 cases involving possible federal crimes committed by CIA personnel. None of these incidents involved acts authorized by the CIA and none were related to official duties. Crimes that may have been committed while executing officially sanctioned activities such as wiretaps and break-ins were excluded from the statistics.

The crimes included narcotic smuggling, embezzlement, theft of government funds, impersonation of a military officer, espionage and black-marketing.

Of the 31 possible crimes, only 14 were referred to Justice by the CIA and only two agency employees were actually brought to trial. Some of the cases called to the attention of the Justice Dept. were later dropped at the CIA's urging, ostensibly because sensitive information would have to be revealed during discovery or trial.

In one glaring example, the Justice Dept. was forced to drop a case against an alleged opium smuggler because of the CIA's steadfast refusal to cooperate.

Puttaporn Khrankhruan, a CIA operative from Thailand, was indicted in 1973 for illegally importing 25 kilos of raw opium into the United States. At first, the CIA's associate general counsel, John K. Greaney, promised he would cooperate fully with the U.S. attorney who was prosecuting the case. When it came time to release CIA documents, however, Greaney executed an abrupt about-face and even refused to allow a federal judge to examine them.

The U.S. attorney appealed to the Justice Dept. for an order that would force the CIA to cough up the documents. Without even asking for a cursory examination of the papers in question, Justice backed the CIA.

In later testimony before the congressional subcommittee, Greaney explained that he had changed his mind about cooperatin g in the prosecution because it would embarrass the CIA if one of its operatives were found guilty of smuggling opium. Furthermore, he claimed, exposure of the documents would reveal some of the CIA's sources and methods of operation in Southeast Asia.

"The behavior of CIA officials in this case," concluded the congressional investigators, "indicates that they still believe that the agency and its employees are above the criminal law. Additionally, this case illustrates that the CIA interprets 'national security' with undue breadth. Risking political embarrassment of the CIA is not and should not be deemed synonymous with risking the security of the United States."

For its part, the Justice Dept. had been "puzzlingly neglectful and inept" and may "have assisted in a cover-up of CIA participation in Southeast Asian drug traffic."

Footnote: Congressional investigators for the subcommittee refused to comment on the grounds that the report is at ill confidential. A Justice Dept. spokesman said only that his department was opposed to the appointment of a special prosecutor solely for the purpose of prosecuting the illegal activities of CIA operatives. A spokesman for the CIA said the agency had not yet seen the report and, therefore, could not comment.

Hafer

Lena S. Hafer, 87, of 42 Ziegler Ave., Poughkeepsie, formerly of Kingston, died at Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie, Sunday following a long illness. Born in Kingston July 14, 1889, she was the daughter of the late Otto and Mollie Lemister Lange, and moved to Poughkeepsie about 25 years ago. She was a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church in Kingston and the Club 60, and had attended Kingston schools. She was married to Frank Hafer, who died in 1942. Surviving are: a daughter, Mrs. Fred Salbacher of Poughkeepsie, a son, Frank R. Hafer of Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Mollie Henze of Bergenfield, N.J., and Mrs. Amanda Glass; three grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. The funeral will be held from the Parmelee Funeral Home, Poughkeepsie, Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. with the Rev. John R. Heller of the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church officiating. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

McCullen

John Hugh McCullen, 80, of 151 Spring St., died Sunday at the Benedictine Hospital following a long illness. He had been employed by the New York Central Railroad as a mason's helper and cook until his retirement several years ago. Mr. McCullen was a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, and was a veteran of World War I, having served with the 306th Infantry Regiment, 77th Division, during the Muse-Argonne offensive. He was a member of Kingston Post 150 American Legion, and the Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, VFW. Born Feb. 26, 1896 in Brooklyn, he was the son of the late William and Ann Tracey McCullen, and is survived by his widow, Helen Taubenberger McCullen; a daughter, Faith, wife of R. Sherrill Smith of Summerville, S.C., a brother, Alfred G. Brown of Bohemia, L. I.; four grandchildren, a great-grandchild, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held at Keyser Funeral Service, Kingston Chapel, Albany and Manor Aves., Wednesday at 11 a.m. The Rev. David C. Gaise, D.D., pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, will officiate. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

McKenna

Jane Frances McKenna, 95, formerly of Kingston, died in Catskill Saturday. Born in Kingston Dec. 22, 1880, she was the daughter of the late Luke and Margaret Craig McKenna, and had been a resident of Catskill since May 1974, after moving from Kingston, where she had been a living for many years. She was employed as a receptionist at the Hotel Commodore in New York City for 20 years, before which she had been a teller in Citibank in New York City for 17 years. She was a member of the Order of St. Francis in New York City. She is survived by two nieces, Mrs. George Theresa Denniston, with whom she had been residing, and Mrs. Marlene Carney, both of Catskill. Several cousins also survive. A Mass of Christian Burial will be offered Tuesday at 9:30 at St. Patrick's Church, Catskill. Burial will be in the family plot at St. Mary's Cemetery, Kingston.

Weather In South Is Bad

By UPI

Rain and drizzle cut through the fogbound southeastern states late Sunday night, and portions of Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia braced for snow, freezing rain or sleet today.

Travelers advisories were continued late Sunday night for southern Virginia, eastern Kentucky, eastern and mid Tennessee and extreme northern Georgia. Snow, freezing rain or sleet was expected to ice some highways.

Fog, rain and drizzle descended on all of the Southeast except southern Florida late Sunday night. Nearly one inch of rain fell at Columbia, S.C., and Selma, Ala., within a six-hour period that ended at 1 a.m. EST.

A travelers advisory due to fog was also in effect over much of northwest Florida. The National Weather Service said some ice and glaze was also likely at higher elevations in the Carolinas.

•BUDGET

developed by the budget office, which indicates just how budget dollars are spent and where the revenues come from.

Dawark noted that both spending percentages and the amounts expected to be raised in revenues were about the same as 1976 figures — with the exception of the county tax levy.

Social services compromises 43.9 per cent of the total budget, and brings in about 31.2 per cent of expected revenues. The next largest single department is highway, which costs 6.9 per cent of the budget and more or less pays for itself by bringing in 6.1 per cent in revenues.

Despite what Dawark called a "bare bones" approach to the budget, significant additional costs were proposed in five areas.

The reserve for uncollected taxes increases 100 per cent for next year — from $1.5 to $3 million. This is because a growing number of county residents are unable to meet their local, school or county taxes. Insurance costs to the county jumped 122 per cent, from $245,000 to $545,000 for 1977.

Also up are employee hospital and medical insurance rates, the employee retirement funds and the joint community college expenses.

The proposed budget does reflect any cutbacks in personnel at this time Dawark said, but the final word on that will have to come from the legislature, as a whole, when it votes on a final package in late December.

In summary, what Dawark presented was a "hold the line budget that left no breathing space for what he assumed would be reductions in state aid, a possible county deficit, increases in social services spending and the possibility of court-ordered spending in the sheriff's department to allow new, more open visitor regulations.

The department heads and members of the legislature get their budget copies today.

The public is free to review the budget at the county office building from 9 to 5 each day and will have the opportunity to express their comments and suggestions at a public hearing scheduled for Dec. 8, 7:30 p.m. at the George Washington School in Kingston.

•NUKE

state Public Service Commission to hold the joint hearing was opposed by PASNY, which said its NRC licensing schedule might be disrupted and jeopardized.

However, the concept of joint hearings was "strongly supported" by groups opposing the nuclear plant and by others granted intervenor status in the hearings, the DPS news release said.

A joint hearing would "avoid unnecessary duplication, thereby expediting the decision-making process and reducing the time, effort and costs which would otherwise be incurred by the parties," federal and state officials said in their protocol agreeing to the joint hearing.

A dozen petitions already have been filed for intervention in the hearing, the NRC said.

The 1,200-megawatt plant, which PASNY would locate on a 282-acre tract in Cementon, just over the Ulster County line in Greene County, must be approved both by the NRC and the DPS's State Board on Electric Generation Siting and the Environment before construction can begin.

While the joint public hearing will cover "areas of mutual concern" between the federal and state agencies, the NRC said it would hold its own hearings later on radiological, health and safety factors of the proposed plant.

The first joint hearing on a nuclear construction permit was held this past summer by the NRC and Maryland state regulatory agencies on a Potomac Electric Power Co. application for a Douglas Point nuclear plant.

While the joint hearing on the Cementon plant could be finished within two to four months, the NRC said its own hearings could continue "well into" the fall of 1977.

PASNY has said the Cementon plant, estimated to cost $1.086 billion, could be finished by mid-1984 if construction can begin by mid-1978.

More than 2,000 workers would be employed on a six-year construction payroll totaling $168 million, the power authority has said.

Opponents have noted that the construction payroll would be a short-term benefit which wouldn't offset the long-run loss of taxes on the plant property, which would be tax-exempt under PASNY's charter.

The proposed plant, on the drawing boards for three years, would be used solely to supply New York City's mass transit and subway systems, a demand that also would require power from a new fossil fuel generating plant and part of the output of still another storage plant, PASNY said.

The proposed Cementon facility would be PASNY's third nuclear generator and the state's seventh.

PASNY also operates three hydroelectric plants, is completing its first fossil fuel plant in Astoria, and has applied for a coal-garbage fueled plant on Staten Island, the latter to join Cementon in feeding the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

The concept of joint nuclear power plant hearings brought comments from the New York Power Pool, made up of seven private power producers and PASNY, which said that "disparate" procedures of federal and state regulatory agencies are "impossible to bring together."

"To make joint hearings effective, there should be a coordinated regulatory pattern, including coordinated filing requirements, data gathering methods, staff reviews and agency procedures."

To this, Alfred E. Kahn, chairman of both the PSC and the siting board, replied that joint hearings are "an important first step in the long-term development of coordinated procedures."

PASNY's application to the NRC for the Cementon plant was formally accepted in January after the power authority had filed an environmental report and a preliminary safety analysis report.

NRC will do its own studies in those two areas, and its work will be reviewed by an independent advisory committee.

PASNY also must go through a lengthy federal-state procedure for an operating license, should the Cementon plant be approved and built.

U.S. Is Opposition To Vietnam Joining

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States finds itself isolated in its opposition to Vietnam's request to become the 146th member of the United Nations.

The second day of debate on the newly unified Vietnam's membership bid was scheduled today before the Security Council. The Soviet Union, China and other Council members support the application.

The United States has warned it will veto Hanoi's membership request until Vietnam accounts for 800 American servicemen missing in action in the Vietnam war. Seven nations were scheduled to speak on the question today. With at least 10 more countries ready to address the council, the debate was expected to last until midweek.

The General Assembly, meanwhile, scheduled a meeting later in the day to begin the year's debate on the Palestine question.

U.S. and Vietnamese diplomats met Friday for the first time since 1973 to discuss the 800 American MIAs and Hanoi's demand for an estimated $3.25 billion in war damages.

The State Department said the talks produced no progress, but the two sides agreed to meet again.

The Soviet Union and China dropped their customary diplomatic bickering Friday to join in sponsoring Vietnam's application, along with France, Benin, Libya, Pakistan, Panama, Romania, Sweden and Tanzania.

The other Security Council members — Britain, Italy and Japan — indicated support for Vietnam's admission during private consultations.

Seventh-Grade Thief Plagues Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Miami Beach police found a curly haired seventh grader behind the wheel of a stolen water department car Sunday. They say he's the same one who has been stealing equipment from the police department during the past year.

"I've been to court three times and I always get out," the 13-year-old said Sunday as police took him to Youth Hall.

Police believe he's responsible for several thefts from police headquarters during the past year.

Missing are three magnum pistols, 398 rounds of ammunition, one city car, one hand computer, at least six police walkie-talkies worth about $1,000 each, a police badge, five electronic beepers, several cylinders of Mace, several pairs of handcuffs, a night stick, and other items of police equipment.

An officer spotted the stolen car Sunday morning. The city's seals and the numbers on the doors had been sprayed over with paint. Paint also had been sprayed on other dents and nicks so that it looked like primer paint.

The license tags had been replaced with those taken from another car.

Police set up a stakeout, unaware that the culprit was a youth.

A small figure, walkie-talkie in hand, walked up to the car, got in and drove off. An officer pulled him over immediately. The car seat had been pushed up all the way so he could see over the steering wheel.

Red Hook Schedules Tax Break Hearing

RED HOOK — The board of education of the Red Hook Central School District has scheduled a public hearing on legislation which allows tax exemptions for business improvements.

The meeting is set for 7 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria.

The law up for discussion provides an exemption of 50 per cent of the increase in assessed value on improved business property for the first year and a decrease of 5 per cent in the exemption for each subsequent year.

The exemptions are not automatic and must be applied for on the proper state forms. Cities, towns, villages and school districts have the option of reducing the percentage of the exemption by local law or resolution before Jan. 1, 1977.

The Red Hook School District serves all or parts of five towns, two villages and two counties and residents are encouraged to attend the hearing and present their views to the school board.

Architects to Work on High School Contract Signing Expected This Week

KINGSTON—A contract for the renovation of Kingston High School is expected to be signed this week by the school district and the architectural firm of Sheridan and Scarperi.

School Superintendent Louis Salzmann said today that the district has had to wait for the termination of a previous agreement with the firm of Halverson-McCullough before signing the new contract.

At their meeting earlier this month the board voted to hire the new firm to do the work, which will reportedly cost the district less than $6 million.

Meanwhile, WHITA (We've Had It Taxpayers Association of Ulster County, Inc.) issued a released today praising the board's efforts in finding a solution to the high school problem. The group said it was pleased to see "harmony, hard work and an atmosphere within the board that is conducive to the best interest of our valued students and the taxpayers of the Kingston Consolidated School district."

In recent years the taxpayer group has been instrumental in stopping the board from carrying out its plans to build a new high school.

Lawrence-Wood Vows Are Exchanged

Linda Lee Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawrence, 45 Ponckchockie St., became the bride of Robert Wood of Fairview Apartments, at St. Mary's Church, Kingston. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Wood of Fairview Apartments and Theodore Wood Jr. of Port Ewen.

The Rev. Walter Doty officiated at the marriage ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white polyester satin princess style gown designed with sweetheart neckline, fitted lace sleeves, detachable ruffle train and enhanced with hand sewn appliques of lace.

Mrs. Cathy Carpio was matron of honor. Bridal attendants were Mrs. Kathleen Brassbridge, sister of the bride of Gorham, Me., Mrs. Mary Longendyke and Miss Debra Moore of Kingston. Maria Colon of Kingston was flower girl.

Larry Laford of Kingston was best man for the bridegroom. Ushers were Vincent Lawrence Jr., brother of the bride; Thomas Longendyke and Theodore Wood, brother of the bridegroom, both of Kingston.

A wedding reception was given at the Moose Lodge, Port Ewen.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School in 1973 and is employed in the medical department at the Ulster County Office Building. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School in 1974 and is employed by Colonial Roofing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will make their home in Mt. Marion.

Haines-Anderson Nuptials Announced

The marriage of Catherine Marie Haines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Haines of Mohonk Road, High Falls, and Keith Robert Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson of Linderman Ave., Kingston, took place at St. Peter's Church in Rosendale.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gerard Bliss, and music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kelly. A reception was held at the Capri 400 in Port Ewen.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Maureen Haines attended as the bride's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Beth Haines, Sonja Jensen of Tillson, Sandra Lyons of Mt. Marion, Nancy Staats of High Falls, and Jan Grunwald of Kerhonkson.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Garry Apa of Port Ewen. Ushers were Vincent Sickles of Rosendale, William Kochlin, Kerhonkson; Kenneth Jensen, Tillson; Lyle Lyons, Mt. Marion; Dennis Haines, High Falls and Wayne Nickerson, Rosendale. Randy Jensen was ringbearer.

For the ceremony, the bride chose an organza gown with empire waist, sabrina sleeves and high neckline, decorated with chantilly lace.

The bride is a graduate of Rondout Valley High School and she attended Ulster County Community College. She is employed as a bookkeeper at St. Cabrini Home in West Park.

Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School and served four years in the U.S. Navy. He is employed as assistant stationary engineer at Hudson State Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will reside on North Road, Highland.

Zammillo-Brocco Betrothal Reported

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Zammillo of 17 Groff St., Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Thomas Brocco, son of Mrs. Antoinette Brocco of Conifer Lane and the late Thomas Brocco.

Miss Zammillo is a 1971 graduate of Kingston High School and received her BA in Sociology from SUNY at New Paltz, class of 1975. Her fiancé is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1971 and received his BS in Accounting from Utica College in 1975.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Istomin HVP Soloist Tonight

By O. LINCOLN IGOU
KINGSTON—Your reviewer was asked to substitute for the usual format an interview with Eugene Istomin, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra's soloist, at tonight's concert at the Community Theatre, beginning at 8 o'clock.

A comedy of errors which will not be itemized ended with yours truly presenting himself at the dressing room door at the agreed upon hour, only to find that the artist had already departed the building. However, here are some items of interest about Istomin (is-TOE-min) from my week's background preparation, gathered largely from New York Times articles over the past 10 years, as well as from other sources.

Born in New York City of Russian parents, he will be a youthful-looking 51 later this month. He studied at the Mannes School and subsequently at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia with Horowitz and Rudolf Serkin (with whom he later played a Bach triple concerto under Pablo Casals at one of the Puerto Rico festivals.) Having won the Levintritt Award at age 17, Istomin made his debut with the New York Philharmonic and with the Philadelphia Orchestra a year later—all in the same month. In 1950 he was invited by Casals to participate in his festival at Prades in southern France. In 1956 the only trio of any degree of permanence gave its first concert in Chicago's summer-season Ravinia. The members were Istomin, Isaac Stern and Leonard Rose. The group has been performing and recording part of practically every year since 1961 when they played in Israel's First Chamber Music Festival. The trio is particularly indebted nonetheless, to Casals, "our spiritual father who made us what we are today," and in whose Puerto Rico Festival they first performed in 1970.

Istomin (and indeed the trio to a considerable degree) concentrates largely on Beethoven and Mozart, Mendelssohn and Chopin, and others of this period. Says he: "I think I am a very idiomatic Chopin player. I play Debussy very well; I've played Rachmaninoff very well and, of course, Mozart and Beethoven.

Just a few years ago both

Musical America and the Times affirmed Istomin's mixed classical and romantic temperament: "a man of Romantic nature with the architectural austerities of classical disciplines" and "He is a self-imposed pessimist, a sometimes sourpuss, intellectual, seeker after the impossible through sheer sweat and toil, a man of integrity and a respected classicist."

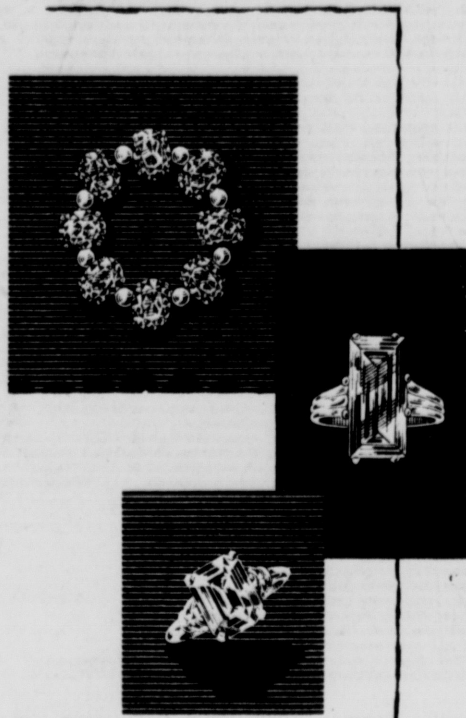

Istomin ponders why he has never really caught fire with the public, yet admits that he has always gone "to the substance, not the appearance of the music." "Thus I often did things that were not intelligent from a career point of view...I somehow have always wanted to project my personality through the sound of my playing."

Relatively recent reviews support Istomin's individualized (romantic?) interpretation of many works such as Beethoven, and the Chopin concerto to be heard again this evening. As observed frequently in Sunday night's performance, concern was expressed over liberties taken with tempos (among other things) and attempting to establish "an Istomin personality in addition to a Beethoven personality."

When Istomin played this F minor Concerto of Chopin with the Cleveland Orchestra in 1971, much of the review could have applied to Sunday's performance. There was a "cool, tonal clarity that would have honored Mozart and that went very well with Chopin. The phrasing had an aristocratic logic and refinement that emphasized his classical approach to music. This made the virtually non-existent orchestral score seem weaker than usual, but the supremely important piano part was indisputably lovely."

Says Istomin of himself: "I lead a life of the mind. I am tremendously involved, mentally, in so many things—from contemporary art, to politics, to baseball, to drinking and eating. I read a great deal and

I like to be alone a great deal. I need to be with people less than most performers. I try to know a bit more about power and the people responsible for its uses so as better to decide what opinions to have on these matters. I am extremely rich in friends, from sports heroes to presidents.

DEAR ABBY

Wife Brings Husband Back Home With Nothing but Chains of Love

DEAR ABBY: For the woman who lost her husband to a younger woman, here's one man's story:

I loved my wife dearly, but after six children and 35 years of marriage, our relationship became so platonic I felt sure I was losing my manhood. I blamed it on her devotion to our home and children rather than on my age.

Depressed, I left home under the pretense of seeking work in a distant state, but I had other things in mind. I found a willing young girl who looked up to me adoringly, lifted my spirits and restored my lagging sense of manhood. I felt as though I had found the fountain of youth, so I filed for a divorce solely on the grounds of sexual incompatibility.

As soon as my wife got word of this, she did what every woman who really loves her husband should do. She caught a bus and traveled 1,500 miles to win back her man. She didn't whine or hire any lawyers, or even scold me for what I had done; she came courting me like a sweetheart, and she laid a loving hand on me like she hadn't done in years! Of course, I knew that some of her passion was faked, but we men are gullible, and I loved her all the more for it.

You guessed it. She brought me back home, bound hand, foot and heart with nothing but chains of love.—HOME AGAIN.

DEAR HOME: Another classic example of a woman casting herself in the role of a sex object to get what she wants. It may be fine for some women, but the Women's Libbers would have her scalp for such a degrading ploy.

DEAR ABBY: My husband sleeps in his underwear. All winter he wears the long woolen kind, and he sleeps in the same underwear he's worn all day. The problem is getting him to change it.

Abby, he has four suits of clean underwear in his drawer, but he refuses to put on a clean pair without a fight. I have a terrible time getting it away from him to put it in the wash.

Don't tell me to grab it while he's in the bathtub. It's a battle to get him to take a bath, too. He thinks deodorants are for sissies, and the smell is awful. Please help me. —BERTHA IN BISMARCK.

DEAR BERTHA: Nag him, threaten him, beg him and bribe him if necessary. If nothing works, look at it this way: You'll never have to worry about another woman stealing him. And he's easy to find in the dark.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a very nice, but shy 17-year-old son. He has never had a date in his life, and I'm sure it's because he's afraid he'll get turned down.

He is an honor student, but doesn't do very well in sports, which could be the reason he isn't very popular with the "in" crowd at school. He is slightly overweight, but there are fatter boys who date so that can't be the reason.

It breaks my heart to see him alone all the time.

A girls' club is having a dance, and the girls ask the boys. One of my best friends has a daughter in this club. Should I put a bug in my friend's ear and ask her to ask her daughter to ask my son? He wouldn't have to know I arranged it.—MOM.

DEAR MOM: Don't put any bugs in anybody's ear. Your son may be a late bloomer. And another one of his problems could be a well-meaning mother who's inclined to run interference for him. Let him develop socially at his own pace.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope.

Nuke Power to Be AAUW Topic

KINGSTON—Charles A. Royce, solar energy specialist for Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., and Kenneth O. Lindquist, consulting engineer with SM Stoller Corp., will be the two speakers discussing "Nuclear Power and Solar Energy as Alternative Sources of Energy," at the monthly meeting of the Kingston Branch, American Association of University Women, Tuesday, Nov. 16, at Kingston High School. Arrangements for this program were made by Mrs. Adelaide Van Wagenen, chairperson of the Energy Study Group, AAUW. Members may bring friends for this meeting.

Royce will give a slide presentation and talk on "The State of the Art of Solar Energy." He has been involved in solar energy studies at Central Hudson for the past 18 months.

Lindquist will speak on "How a Nuclear Plant Works." He is a specialist in nuclear fuel management, nuclear fuel design and safety evaluation. He has also done work in laser interferometry, atomic physics and mass spectroscopy.

Katherine Lacey of Kingston has been named assistant to the state director for New York by the American Association of Retired Persons, the nation's largest organization dedicated to helping older Americans achieve retirement lives of independence, dignity and purpose. In her new position, Mrs. Lacey will be responsible for coordinating the activities of American Association of Retired Persons chapters in the state and will promote the services and programs of the 8-million-member organization. Before her retirement, Mrs. Lacey worked as a medical secretary. Previously, she was a dorm mother at Wellesley College.

Jonathan M. Green of 126 Stony Run Apartments, Kingston, is among bridge players most recently awarded Life Master rank by the American Contract Bridge League in recognition of bridge expertise and success. Green said Life Master rank is awarded players who accumulate 300 master points with 50 or more won in demanding regional or continentally ranked championship play. He is one of the 22,000 players from the millions who play bridge, to achieve the ranking since it was established in 1935.

She has a history of major operations including bilateral subcutaneous mastectomy, and insisted on the silicone implants. She freely explains her experiences and has been the subject of several news articles in the San Jose Mercury and the Newhouse News Service and has received many referrals from the San Jose Cancer Society. During her ordeal she designed an arm restraint apparatus which is effective for immobilization of one or both upper extremities.

The trial of John Peter Zenger, said Gouverneur Morris, was "the morning star of that liberty which subsequently revolutionized America." In 1734 Zenger was charged with seditious libel for allowing his paper, the New York Weekly Journal, to publish articles opposing the tyrannical royal governor William Cosby. Bail was set high and Zenger's attorneys were disbarred when the trial came to court but the appeal of the distinguished Andrew Hamilton for "the Liberty" both of exposing and opposing arbitrary power by speaking and writing the truth, brought a swift acquittal. ## Coleman Parents Plan 'Show and Sale'

KINGSTON—The Christmas Arts and Crafts Sale Committee of the John A. Coleman Parents Association has scheduled a "Show and Sale" for Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 4 and 5.

Invitations have been sent to craftsmen from Vermont, Maine, New Jersey and Pennsylvania as well as craftspeople from New York State.

The "Show and Sale" promises to offer the widest variety of unique Christmas gifts under one roof in the entire Hudson Valley. In addition to the craftspeople, importers of hand-crafted items created in Europe, the Caribbean and South Pacific Islands have been invited to exhibit. Items costing as little as a few cents will be available as well as gifts selling for several hundred dollars.

The "Show and Sale" also will present an opportunity for interested persons to see the John A. Coleman High School Building, located on Hurley Ave., in Kingston. Serving more than 900 boys and girls, Coleman High School is the only Catholic high school in Ulster County.

Poetry Reading Scheduled at UCCC

STONE RIDGE—A poetry reading is being sponsored by the Literary Magazine at Ulster County Community College, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 2 p.m. in the Visual Arts Gallery in Vassar Hall.

Featured poets will include George Montgomery of Rosen-dale and several other UCCC students. Anyone interested in contributing or reading his poetry is welcome.

Further information may be obtained from John Locke, assistant professor of Visual Arts at UCCW and faculty adviser to the Literary Magazine.

Sponsor Childrens Book Fair

HURLEY—A Childrens Book Fair will be held at the Hurley Elementary School, Nov. 16 through Nov. 19 sponsored by the Hurley Parents Club. The public is invited.

Tigers Invited to Section One Bowl

KINGSTON—Unpack those uniforms, reserve one more bus, roll out the Kingston High School football machine one more time—the Tigers are going to the Section One "AA" bowl game Saturday against Roosevelt of Yonkers. The 7-1 Tigers were selected Sunday along with the 6-1 Roosevelt squad and will play at 1 p.m. at Memorial Field in Mt. Vernon on Saturday. Other sectional games Saturday, at the same site, will pit Scarsdale against Horace Greeley in the "A" game at 4:30 p.m. and Peekskill vs. Rye in the "B" game at 8 p.m.

"It means a great deal to us," said Kingston coach Tony Badalato. "We would've been disappointed if we hadn't been selected. We were a little disappointed at the end (Saturday's 10-0 loss to Arlington) but the bowl game should get us up."

Kingston, the Dutchess County Scholastic League champion, will make its first bowl appearance since 1971, when the "Maroon" were creamed by White Plains, 30-0.

"White Plains was a huge team," said Badalato. "They averaged 260 pounds on the defensive line and 235 on the offense, and they had a 235-pound fullback. We don't know anything about Roosevelt," he added. "We'll trade two films with them this week. We want to make up for our poor showing against Arlington. Win or lose, we want to play a better game Saturday than we did against Arlington. The loss brought us back to earth. We made too many mistakes to win that game. We turned the ball over every time within the 15 or 20. It was ridiculous."

"Our defense did play extremely well, though," added Badalato. Roosevelt played in the bowl game last year and there dealt a DCSL championship team from Arlington its only defeat. The current Roosevelt club is also strong. Here are some facts: The squad's 6-1 record includes a 3-0 record in the Yonkers City League. The bowl game is not their final game—they have to face Saunders on Thanksgiving in a league game to end the schedule. Roosevelt has beaten Port Chester, 29-6; Gorton-Yonkers, 14-0 and Lincoln-Yonkers, 40-0 before suffering its only loss of the season, 12-6 to Scarsdale. Since the loss, Roosevelt has beaten White Plains, 19-14; Mt. Vernon, 12-0 and Yonkers, 21-0.

Roosevelt has shut out four opponents and outscored its seven foes, 141-26. They have a 1,000-yard fullback, senior and captain Ed Kovac. "I think he's the finest football player in Westchester County," said Roosevelt coach Tony Demattio.

Other Roosevelt offensive stars include senior halfback Ken Alvarez and senior quarterbacks Pete Boujorno and Barry Simon. Like Kingston, Roosevelt uses both quarterbacks, but unlike Kingston, Roosevelt uses the shuttle system on each play as Demattio sends in the call with either Boujorno or Simon.

"I know it sounds awkward," said Demattio, "but I've used the shuttle system for two or three years now and it works for us. We're a defensively-oriented team," added Demattio. "We stress our defense more than our offense."

Demattio summed up what the bowl game means to him and his squad. "It's for the sectional championship. Whoever wins it is the best AA team in Section One."

Roosevelt has appeared in the Section One "AA" bowl game the last two seasons, beating Arlington, 32-8 in 1975 but losing to Roosevelt Hyde Park, 28-14 in 1974.

Tickets will be sold only at the gate and will cost $2.

Holtz Shows A Flair For the Dramatic

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lou Holtz showed a flair for the dramatic Sunday and the result was the New York Jets' most impressive victory of the season.

Holtz started rookie Richard Todd against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and then brought in Joe Namath late in the first quarter. The Jets scored on Namath's first call and the next four times they had the ball en route to a 34-0 rout of the winless Bucs. The shutout was the first for the Jets in 16 years.

"I told both Richard and Joe before the game that Joe would go in on the third series regardless of what happened, good, bad or indifferent," Holtz said. "I thought it would be in the second period but it just happened to be after we recovered a fumble deep in their territory."

Phil Wise recovered Louis Carter's fumble on the Bucs' 14 and Namath entered the game. His first call was a handoff to rookie Clark Gaines, who burst off left tackle, broke six tackles and stormed into the end zone.

After Gaines' TD, Namath hit Rich Caster with a three-yard TD pass, Pat Leahy kicked a 21-yard field goal and Steve Davis ran five yards for a score as the Jets ran up a 24-0 halftime lead. Lou Piccone's 60-yard punt return for a TD made it 31-0 early in the second half and Leahy hit a 30-yard field goal in the last period. The win was the Jets' third against seven losses and equaled their victory output of last season.

"We got a lot of good breaks," Holtz said. "Louie ran back the punt for the score at the start of the second half and the game deteriorated from there. Richard even said it was boring playing in the second half. He wasn't allowed to throw the ball much and we really didn't show much of a running game."

Namath said coming off the bench worked to his advantage.

"It really worked out well today," he explained. "They were doing things on defense differently than what they had been doing in past and it took some time to pick it up. We went into the shotgun for two plays but it didn't work too well. I got knocked down twice because they were playing different defenses than what they had been playing and our guys were having trouble picking up their blitzes. I was confident we could throw from a normal formation so we went back to that."

The Jets scored on all four series Namath played and Todd and Steve Joachim played the second half for the Jets.

Tampa Bay Coach John McKay was upset at his team's 10th loss.

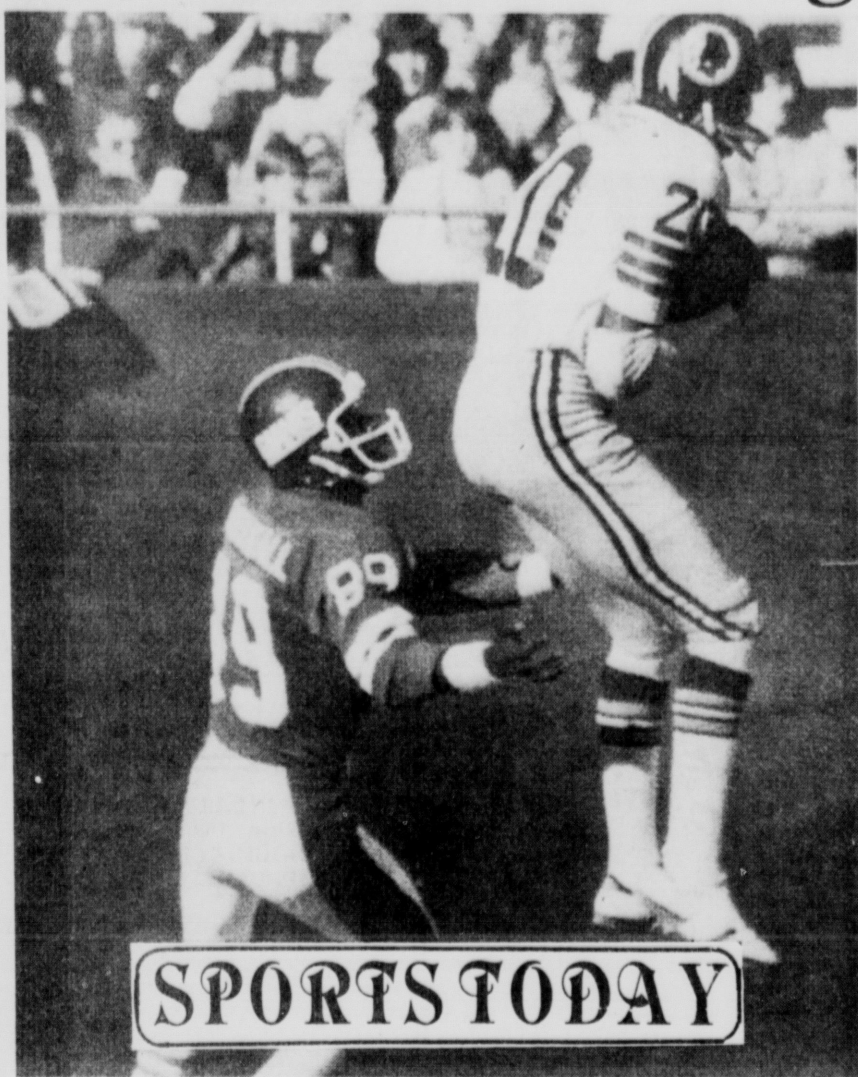

"Our tackling was atrocious," said McKay. "We were tackling like a junior high school team. I think we got on the field ahead of them for the second half and that's the only thing we beat them on today. I thought those two guys running out there were Franco Harris and Red Grange."

The "guys" were Gaines, who gained 103 yards and caught four passes for 76 more, and Davis, who tackled on 76 yards rushing. The 100-yard effort was the third in the last four games for Gaines, a rookie from Wake Forest who joined the club as a free agent and was kept only because of injuries to running backs in camp.

"Somebody came into the huddle late in the game and told me I needed 12 yards for 100," Gaines said. "I think it took 12 carries to get the 12 yards. After a while, I was hoping they'd try throwing the ball once in a while."

Along with the Jets' first shutout since 1963, the TD reception was the first this season for Caster, an All Pro last year, and Piccone's punt return marked his first TD in three NFL seasons.

Once Was Enough for Stienke

Redskin Joe Lavender (20) picks off an interception

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Jim Stienke stood by idly in the opening game of the season when Mike Thomas caught a five-yard touchdown pass in the final minute to give the Washington Redskins a 1917 victory over the New York Giants.

The New York Giant defensive back wasn't going to let it happen again.

Stienke made a diving interception of a Joe Theismann pass in the New York end zone with 34 seconds left in the game Sunday to preserve the Giants' first win in 10 tries this year, a 12-9 victory over the Redskins.

Stienke was isolated one-on-one with Thomas but got some unexpected help from linebacker Brad Van Pelt in making his second interception of the season and preserving a club string of 10 straight quarters without yielding a touchdown.

"Brad jammed their tight end (Jean Fugett) at the line and Thomas ran into him," Stienke said. "So Thomas was forced to reroute his pattern. He wanted to go to the outside and all of a sudden he was on the inside."

"When he finally got out of that jumble, Harry (middle linebacker Carson) was putting heat on Theismann and he just threw the ball. It came right to me...I couldn't believe it."

New York claimed the final three-point lead on Joe Danelo's fourth field goal, a career best 50-yarder, with 4:32 remaining in the game. The Redskins took the following kickoff and moved 60 yards in 10 plays to the New York seven before Theismann threw his first interception of the game on a third-and-two.

"As they were moving down the field," recalled Stienke, "I thought of that first game. On the winning touchdown, we were in a double zone. Us two safeties just stood back there in the end zone and I didn't cover anyone."

Washington got all its points from place kicker Mark Moseley, who booted field goals of 41, 31 and 32 yards. He and Danelo matched field goals in each of the first three quarters as the New York kicker hit from 30, 26 and 39 yards.

But instead of playing conservatively and staying on the ground to force an overtime with another field goal, the Redskins looked to their shaky passing game for a winning touchdown. Theismann hit just 12 passes in 30 tries for 153 yards in the game.

"That has been the most successful play we've had in goal line situations in 10 or 11 years," said Washington Coach George Allen, who saw an 11-game Redskin winning streak against the Giants go down the drain.

"And I think Joe was trying to throw the ball away."

"Not for one minute did I think they were going to win that game," added Van Pelt. "We stopped them all day and I felt we were going to stop them then. We were just hoping for a chance to block their field goal attempt."

"I felt we were eventually going to win—even if it meant going into overtime to do it."

The victory clouded the fact that the Giants have now gone 18 quarters without scoring a touchdown. The New York offense drove 63 yards with the opening kickoff for Danelo's first field goal but relied on its defense and specialty teams to set up the other three-pointers.

An Eddie Brown fumble on a punt return at his own 35 set up Danelo's second quarter field goal and two second half fumbles by Thomas—one at his 30 and another at the New York 27—set up the Giants final two field goals.

Thomas finished the game with 106 yards on 24 carries for his second 100-yard game of the season for the 6-4 Redskins.

Cardinals Pull Another One Out

By UPI

The St. Louis Cardinals, strangers to the easy win, pulled out a 30-28 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in the final four seconds of the game Sunday to gain a commanding position in the race for a playoff berth in the National Football Conference.

The Cardinals improved their record to 8-2 for a two-game lead over the Washington Redskins and the San Francisco 49ers in the race for the NFC's wild card berth. St. Louis also moved to within a half-game of the Eastern Division-leading Dallas Cowboys, who host the Buffalo Bills tonight.

"I'm very proud of our men because they didn't give up," said St. Louis Coach Don Coryell after Jim Bakken's 25-yard field goal increased the Cardinals' winning streak to three games. "It looked hopeless when we were 15 points behind, but we didn't know what it was to quit."

Watching the Cardinals is quite similar to watching professional basketball, there's no reason to get to the game before the final two minutes because that's when the game always seems to be decided.

Two weeks ago, the Cardinals had to go into overtime to beat the 49ers and in last week's 17-14 victory over Philadelphia, the Cardinals had to recover an Eagles' fumble at their own 10-yard line with 30 seconds left to preserve the win.

But the Cardinals have ultimate confidence in the ability to come up with the miraculous play.

"You don't have time to be nervous in a situation like we were in," quarterback Jim Hart said. "All week long we figured that if we were close at the end, we could win."

This week's cardiac close was set up by Terry Metcalf's 29-yard punt return to the Rams 48-yard line with 1:39 remaining in the game.

"Our defense got the ball for us at the time that they had to do so," Hart said.

"If the Rams had made a first down there, the game would have been over."

Cullen Bryant had given the Rams a 20-6 lead when he returned the opening kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown, but Hart got the high-powered offense in gear.

"A play like Bryant's kickoff return takes a hell of a lot out of a team," Coryell said. "But Hart was unbelievable because the Ram defense was great, particularly in the first half."

"They did a great job covering our backs coming out of the backfield. Of course, when Hart has a big day (20 for 33 for 324 yards and one touchdown), credit must be given to the offensive line. Our offensive line was consistent for the entire game."

Hart completed 13-of-16 passes for 229 yards in the second half to finish with 20 completions in 33 attempts for 324 yards.

With the Cardinals trailing by 28-20, Hart threw a 25-yard touchdown pass to J.V. Cain with 4:23 remaining. Terry Metcalf scored the other two St. Louis touchdowns on short runs and Bakken kicked 40 and 32 yards field goals in addition to his game-winner.

"It's a game we could have won," said a subdued Chuck Knox, the Rams' coach. "It went right down to the wire. You have to give Hart credit. I thought we gave him a good rush, but he had fine receiving and he did a super job."

"I thought some of his receivers made super catches, too."

Saints 17, Lions 16

Bobby Douglass threw a 69-yard touchdown pass to Larry Burton and linebacker Warren Capone scored on a two-yard run after recovering a fumble to pace the Saints' victory. Rich Szaro kicked his 11th straight field goal, a 37-yarder, for the other Saints' score. Benny Ricardo's conversion kick after the Lions' first touchdown bounced off the right upright.

Bears 24, Packers 13

Walter Payton gained 109 yards to boost his season total to 1,698 and scored a touchdown to lead the Bears past the Packers. Payton scored on a two-yard run, Bob Avellini threw a 40-yard touchdown pass to Mike Adamle, Roland Harper ran 16 yards for a touchdown and Bob Thomas kicked a 46-yard field goal to account for the Chicago scoring.

Bengals 31, Oilers 27

Quarterback Ken Anderson, on a fourth down play with 42 seconds left, connected with Isaac Curtis on a 47-yard touchdown play to pull out a victory over the Oilers. Anderson also threw touchdown passes of 48 and three yards to Bob Trumpy as the Oilers lost their fifth straight game.

Patriots 21, Colts 14

Steve Grogan threw a 22-yard touchdown pass to Al Chandler and scored two more on a pair of two-yard runs to give the Patriots an excellent opportunity at making the NFL playoffs for the first time. The Patriots, now 7-3, trail the Colts by a game in the AFC's Eastern Division, but are in a commanding position to win the conference's wild card berth as the best division runnerup.

Browns 24, Eagles 9

Brian Sipe threw two touchdown passes and a tough Browns' defense contributed a touchdown on Ron Bolton's 37-yard interception return to rout the Eagles. Sipe hit Reggie Rucker with a 20-yard TD pass and Paul Warfield with a nineyard scoring pass as the Browns improved their record to 6-4.

Falcons 21, 49ers 16

Scott Hunter threw a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to Alfred Jenkins as the Falcons upset the 49ers, who lost their third straight. Hunter connected with Jenkins on scoring passes of 34 and 21 yards. San Francisco quarterback Jim Plunkett threw touchdown passes to 40 and 10 yards to Gene Washington.

Vikings 27, Seahawks 21

Minnesota quarterback Fran Tarkenton hit Stu Voight with a five-yard touchdown pass late in the fourth quarter to avert an upset by the Seahawks. After the go-ahead touchdown, the Vikings still needed a goal line stand to preserve the victory. Tarkenton's second-quarter pass to Sammie White made him the first to throw 300 touchdown passes in the NFL. Seattle's Jim Zorn passed for two touchdowns and ran for the other.

Steelers 14, Dolphins 3

Franco Harris, who scored a touchdown, and Rocky Bleier each ran for 110 yards and the Steelers' defense extended to 21 quarters their string for not allowing a touchdown. The loss virtually eliminated the Dolphins from playoff contention, while the Steelers best chance of making the post-season festivities appears to be catching the Central Division-leading Bengals, who lead Pittsburgh by two games.

Raiders 21, Chiefs 10

Ken Stabler threw a pair of touchdown passes to lead the Raiders to victory over the Chiefs. Stabler threw 32 yards to Fred Biletnikoff and 22 to Dave Casper in increasing his NFL-leading touchdown pass total to 20.

Broncos 17, Chargers 0

Rick Upchurch caught a 59-yard pass from Steve Ramsey for one touchdown and set up a field goal with a 38 yard punt return to pace the Broncos' victory. Linebacker Tom Jackson scored the Broncos' other touchdown with a 45-yard interception return.

HALL OF FAMERS

The Kingston Women's Bowling Association inducted two new members to its Hall of Fame Sunday. Amy Miller, left, was selected for her outstanding record of service to the organization; Joan Jameson joined the group as one of the top performers in KWBA history.

Bills Will Feel at Home

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills came to Texas Sunday and found their type of weather waiting for them.

The Dallas Cowboys hope to warm things up for the Bills, however when the two clubs meet in tonight's nationally televised football game.

A rare November snowstorm blizzed North Texas during the weekend and when the Dallas Cowboys went out for a brief practice session Sunday they had to romp around the edges of a two-inch snowfall that drifted down through the roof of Texas Stadium.

Temperatures still will be chilly but the precipitation is expected to end by the time the Cowboys and Bills meet in their second-ever encounter.

Dallas, 8-1, hopes to move a step closer to an NFC East division title and its 10th playoff appearance in the last 11 years. Buffalo is just trying for a confidence builder, something the Bills have not had much of during their 2-7 season.

The Cowboys will be coming off their worst performance of the season—a 9-3 victory over the New York Giants.

"Hopefully that kind of game will not happen two times in a row," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "The kind of game we played against New York usually happens when you are playing a team that is down and you have just played an emotional game."

"But it has been my experience that after you are flat for one game you will get back up for the next."

Four Records Set In SAA Premier

SAUGERTIES — Four scoring records were broken as Naccarato Insurance overpowered Boo's Tavern, 135-104, in a Saugerties Athletic Association Premier Division basketball game.

The 135 points set an SAA record for one game, cracking Outrigger's mark of 127. The 77 points the winners scored in the second half topped the mark set by Allen's Bue Line of 73. The 239 total points snapped the record of 227 set in a 116-111 win by Naccarato's over The Irish.

And the 137 second half points by the two teams bettered the 120 scored by Kaye's and Boo's.

In the more important game of the night as far as current league standing is concerned, Kaye remained unbeaten by downing Gokey Brothers Construction, 109-88.

Jack Naccarato, playing in his 100th SAA game over an eight year career, poured in 29 points to lead his team. Rod Chando canned 28 and delivered 11 assists. Ted Wood and Matt Zweig tallied 19 apiece. Tim Murphy poured in 17 and Dick Benjamin rimmed 15. Wood's 18 rebounds led

Wilson 'Duncs' Rangers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dunc Wilson returned to Madison Square Garden in far better shape than he left. This time he was in the visitors' locker room.

The Pittsburgh Penguin goalie, traded in the first week of the season by the Rangers, withstood 37 shots Sunday night as Pittsburgh skated to a 5-1 victory over a New York team that has been sinking deeper into the mire with each game.

"We've never had a goaltender that can handle the puck like Dunc," said Penguins' Coach Ken Schinkel. "He's a stand-up goalie and takes charge back there."

The 28-year-old goaltender, playing behind Gilles Gratton and John Davidson when in New York, positioned himself superbly in the nets all night. Don Murdoch's 17th goal at 3:07 of the first period off a power play accounted for New York's scoring.

Wilson was amply backed on goals by Ron Stackhouse, Rick Kehoe, Pierre Larouche, Wayne Bianchin and Jean Pronovost.

But his stand-out moment came at 1:04 of the second period when New York forward Bill Goldsworthy was awarded a penalty shot after being hooked by Stackhouse on a clear breakaway.

Goldsworthy, playing in only his second game as a Ranger, flipped the shot from 15-feet into the pads of a perfectly stationed Wilson.

"There was more pressure on Goldy than on me," Wilson said. "And he just hit me with it."

New York could have pulled to within one goal had they converted the penalty shot. But with the missed shot went any thoughts of victory.

"The Rangers really seemed tight out there," Wilson said of his ex-teammates. "Maybe it's the pressure of not winning at home."

The last-place Rangers, with the third worst goals-against total in the NHL, have lost seven in a row at home, breaking the club record of six set during the 1946-47 season.

"We're all trying to play hard," said Ranger goalie Gilles Gratton, who was lifted after two periods. "But right now, I'm going to have a glass of milk, go to a friend's house, play the guitar and forget about it."

Meagher Tops Kennedy

KINGSTON — Christine Gallo's goal provided the winning margin as Meagher School beat Kennedy School, 6-5, for the championship of the Kingston City Schools Elementary Girls "A" Division soccer tournament.

In the "B" division, Zena downed Sojourner Truth, 3-1, for the crown.

Diana Jackson's goal with just five seconds to go had lifted JFK into a tie and sent its game into overtime. Earlier, Sheila Armstrong and Rita Wilson had scored twice for Meagher and Gallo had one.

Kerrin and Kaleen Moriarty did the scoring and Jean Barbanti played well in goal as Zena captured its championship.

Shimada Rallies in JO

TOKYO, (UPI) — Kosaku Shimada of Japan came from behind with a four-under-par 69, the best score in the final round Monday, and captured the $216,666 Japan Open Golf Tournament on the par-73 Kashima Central Golf Club Course.

The 32-year-old Shimada moved into the lead from a seventh place tie with six birdies and two bogeys in the final round and won the title with a four-round total of fourunder-par 73-75-71-69-288 and the first prize money of $33,333.

Defending champion Takashi Murakami of Japan, who will compete in the World Cup next year, shared second place with fellow countryman Toru Nakamura at 289. Murakami, third round leader, shot a three-over-par 76 (38-38) Monday.

Cementon Widens Lead

SAUGELTIES — Cementon S.C. widened its Saugerties Dartball League lead last week as it blanked Highwoods, 3-0, while second place Katsbaan Apaches dropped a 2-1 decision to Malden-West Camp.

Cementon leads the league by four games over Kaatsban. In other action, West Camp topped Mt. Marion, 3-0, Doggie's F Troop curbed Centerville Vols, 2-1, and Centerville Church topped the Golden Eagles, 2-1.

The standings: Cementon S.C. 25-2; Katsbaan Apaches, 21-6; Malden-West Camp, 19-8; Centerville Church, 17-10; Golden Eagles, 13-14; West Camp Church, 13-14; Centerville Vols, 9-18; Mt. Marion A.C., 7-20; Doggie's, 6-21; Highwoods S.C., 5-22.

Hall of Fame chairman Vincent Carpinio advises that ground rules will be established on voting bowlers into the organization this year. Election will also take place to update the 10-man board which does the official voting of members into the hall.

Peter McNab was only a 22-year old rookie when he earned a reputation for having the deadliest shot in the National Hockey League.

That was in 1974 when he joined the Buffalo Sabres, and now two seasons later he's making that evaluation stand up as a member of the Boston Bruins.

The 6-foot-3, 205-pound native of Vancouver, B.C., scored two goals, including the gamewinner, and also had an assist Sunday when he helped rally the Bruins to a 5-3 victory over the Colorado Rockies.

McNab has scored 17 goals in as many games and is the NHL's leading shooter.

The victory raised the Bruins' record to 13-3-1 and enabled them to open up a seven-point, first-place lead over the Sabres in the Adams Division of the Wales Conference.

The Rockies were leading 3-2 on two goals by Paul Gardner when Bobby Schumatz took a pass from McNab and tied the score at 2:47 of the third period. McNab then scored 5:03 later, giving him his fourth game-winning goal of the season, with Stan Jonathan adding a fifth goal into an empty net with five seconds left in the game.

Elsewhere, Chicago defeated Los Angeles 5-4, and Cleveland shaded Washington 3-2.

Hawks 5, Kings 4

The Black Hawks took a twopoint first-place lead in the Smythe Division when Phil Russell scored on a 45-foot shot with six minutes left in the game. The Kings had rallied from an early 3-1 deficit to take a 4-3 lead on goals by Mike Murphy, Marcel Dionne and Tommy Williams but Alan Daigle tied the score with two minutes left in the second period.

Barons 3, Capitals 2

Mike Christie scored 15 seconds into the third period giving the Barons their margin of victory over the Capitals who are now 5-10-2. Christie's goal was his first of the season and enabled the Barons to tie Toronto for third place in the Adams Division.

WHA

Goals by Bill Lesuk and Max Lindh gave the Winnipeg Jets a 2-0 triumph which snapped the Calgary Cowboys' winning streak at eight games. Al Karlander had a goal and an assist as the Indianapolis Racers defeated the Quebec Nordiques 3-1, and John Gray's three goals led the Phoenix Roadrunners to a 6-3 triumph over the San Diego Mariners in World Hockey Association games.

Tauber Names Team

KILLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)

— Coach Hank Tauber today named his 18-member alpine team for 1977 World Cup ski competition, bringing the bulk of the racers to this Vermont ski resort for 10 days of slalom and giant slalom training.

"We're sending five men and four women to France for downhill training," Tauber said. "They'll leave Friday. The best training site appears to be St. Moritz. But we may have to switch to Livigno, Italy."

Tauber added, "We'll organize our downhill training at whichever area appears to be the best. This is our weakest event. And, if we're going to make a run against Austria and Switzerland for a strong showing in the Nations Cup standings, we need all the downhill training and racing we can arrange."

Cindy Nelson, women's bronze medalist in the 1976 Winter Olympic downhill, and Andy Mill, sixth in the men's olympic downhill, lead the nine members leaving for France this week.

Joining Nelson, 20, Lutzen, Minn., and Mill, 23, Aspen, Colo., in the downhill training with the French will be Karl Anderson, 22, Greene, Me.; Ron Biedermann, 23, Stowe, Vt.; Dave Currier, 24, Madison, N.H.; Abbie Fisher, 18, South Conway, N.H.; Kamie Kurlander, 18, McAfee, N.J.; Susie Patterson, 20, Sun Valley, Idaho; and Eric Wilson, 19, Montpelier, Vt.

Members of the team training here through Thanksgiving Day include 19-year-old twin brothers Phil and Steve Mahre of White Pass, Wash. The Mahres were the sensations of the U.S. Team last year, and are both ranked in the first seed in World Cup slalom and giant slalom competition.

The rest of the "A" Team named Monday are: Cary Adgate, 22, Boyne City, Mich.; Geoff Bruce, 23, Corn-ing, N.Y.; Lindy Cochran, 23, Richmond, Vt.; Christin Cooper, 16, Sun Valley; Viki Fleckenstein, 20, Syracuse, N.Y.; Greg Jones, 22, Tahoe City, Calif.; Pete Patterson, 19, Sun Valley; and Bill Taylor, 19, Buffalo, N.Y.

"Other racers may be added to the group before we leave on Thanksgiving Day," Tauber said.

"The whole team will get together in Aprica, Italy, Nov. 29. Then we'll enter our first giant slalom race Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at Alta-Valtellina, Italy."

Slick Made the Sonics Super

By UPI

Slick Watts, Seattle's hyperactive playmaker, had all the moves for the occasion of the SuperSonics' 23rd consecutive home-court victory.

The 6-foot-1 guard, who has become one of the most respected small men in the league, scored 25 points and handed out 15 assists as Seattle topped the Indiana Pacers 121-118 Sunday night.

The longest winning streak at home is 36, set by Philadelphia during the 1966-67 season.

The Sonics, who rely on muscle men up front and free wheelers in the backcourt, nearly gave the game away in the final minutes when a 12point lead was cut to one with nine seconds left.

But as Seattle tried to kill the clock, Indiana fouled center Tom Burleson who made the two free throws to wrap up the game before a crowd of 11,493.

"We just beat 'em at playground ball," said Tommy Burleson. "We never lost control of the game. We just gave them false hopes at times."

But while the Sonics were handing out false hopes, Indiana's Billy Knight was giving Seattle true grit with a 37-point performance that singlehandedly kept the Pacers alive.

Pistons 104, Bucks 83

Chris Ford, who was in and out of a Milwaukee hospital twice Sunday because of stomach cramps, scored 18 of his 20 points in the first half to lead Detroit past Milwaukee for the Pistons' sixth straight victory. Ford, who became ill shortly after arriving with the team Saturday night, hit five baskets in the first quarter, all from long range. Kevin Porter added 18 points for Detroit and Howard Porter 15, while rookie Alex English had a season high of 21 to lead Milwaukee. The Bucks' Gary Brokaw added 18.

Cavaliers 97, Lakers 95

"Foots" Walker scored on a scoop shot with three seconds remaining to push Cleveland past Los Angeles for the Cavs' 11th win of the year. Walker's basket, a desperation drive on his only shot of the game, capped Cleveland's rally from a 13-point deficit in the final three minutes of play. Jim Chones scored 23 points and Austin Carr 14. For the Lakers, Cazzie Russell was high man with 23, while Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added 20 points, his low of the season.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Less Than Four Days to Avert Second Auto Strike

DETROIT(UPI) — The United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. have less than four days to resolve several key contract issues and avoid a second auto industry strike.

Both sides have indicated several times since a strike deadline was set last Monday that they could avoid a walk-out by 390,000 workers, which would be unprecedented following the 28-day shutdown at the Ford Motor Co.

But labor observers indicated several tough issues remained to be settled by the 12:01 a.m. Friday deadline.

Sources indicated the negotiating teams have not really tackled a key union demand for a company pledge not to interfere with organizing efforts in six new southern plants employing about 3,000 workers.

The issue of GM's so-called "Southern Strategy" probably will not be resolved until the bargainers are faced with the possibility of an imminent walkout, sources said.

At the same time, another 118,000 UAW members in the United States and Canada began voting today on the tentative three-year agreement that averted a strike against the Chrysler Corp. The results are expected late Wednesday.

Even if the UAW and GM reach agreement on the final labor contract for the automotive "Big Three," the No. 1 automaker faces the threat of numerous individual plant shutdowns that could cripple production. Just 28 of 143 bargaining units have local contracts to supplement a national pact.

Dozens of Syrian Tanks Roll Through Streets Peacekeeping Forces Enter Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon(UPI) — Syrian-dominated Arab peacekeeping troops rumbled into Beirut today from the south and east, taking up strategic positions in the capital wracked by 10 months of civil war.

Dozens of Syrian tanks backed by infantry units rolled through the streets, occupying key posts in the Moslem and Christian sectors and on the "green line" dividing the two.

One advance column reached the National Museum, in the mile-wide strip of no-man's-land at the city's southern edge, then sliced without resistance into the Moslem-held western sector.

Leftist guerrillas who had controlled the area Sunday melted away during the night.

Another unit pushed in from the rightist-held east and reportedly took over strategic positions throughout the eastern Christian sector.

One company took control of the Central Bank, the Ministry of Information and the leftish radio station across Hamra Street from the offices of United Press International.

The Syrian thrust was aimed at the city's downtown and seaport warzones, scenes of the war's heaviest fighting. But there was no immediate word on whether they had reached the gutted port area.

For the first time, the Syrian brigades were accompanied by Saudi Arabian, Sudanese and Libyan soldiers from the small Arab League force at Beirut International Airport.

The assault was spearheaded by army bulldozers, which pushed rightist and leftist barricades out of the way of the advancing columns.

Small groups of men, women and children gathered on street corners to watch the peace troops roll in.

In Tayyouneh, a middle-class section of southeast Beirut, the people waved to the Syrians and shouted, "Welcome to Lebanon!" Several Syrian tank gunners, their heads poking out of the turrets, waved back.

Another group of civilian bystanders slaughtered a lamb — a traditional sign of welcome.

One unit of Syrians and white-helmeted League troops moved in big military trucks from their position at Khalde, just southwest of Beirut, to open the access road to Beirut airport — closed for months by shelling and sniping.

Soviet-made anti-aircraft battery is trained on Beirut Airport.

The independent newspaper An Nahar reported the first plane will land at the airport Tuesday, carrying new equipment for the looted control tower.

The newspaper said the airport itself will reopen Wednesday. It has been closed to normal traffic since a rightist shelling attack blew up a jet-liner on the runway July 27.

Mexico Stalls on Prisoner Release

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. is entangled in "red tape" in his attempt to gain the temporary release of truck driver Phillip Millard from a Mexican jail so he can see his dying mother in the United States.

"We're working on it but we have nothing concrete yet," a spokeswoman for Brown said Sunday. "We're just trying to cut through red tape."

Gray Davis, Brown's chief of staff, said "The hurdle at this point is the absence of an ironclad (legal) guarantee" that Millard would be returned to Mexico.

Brown aides consulted with Mexican authorities and the State Department during the weekend trying to hammer out an acceptable agreement for the proposed 24-hour release of Millard.

Millard, 32, has served nearly half of a 6½-year sentence on charges of smuggling cocaine and wants to visit his mother, Isabel, 62, a retired Alameda, Calif., teacher who is dying of cancer.

Family members say Mrs. Millard is getting weaker and can barely recognize close friends.

Authorities said that since Millard had not committed a crime on American soil, Mexican officials were concerned that he could not be legally held once he is in this country. Davis said the governor's staff had even drawn up an agreement that Millard would sign before leaving Mexico "which is relevant to his return to prison after he's visited his mother."

Brown earlier had been accused in Mexico City by Millard's sister, Carolyn Johnson, of letting the family down by failing to guarantee authorities there of the trucker's return. The governor said through an aide he would "do everything in his power to ensure Millard would return after the visit."

Bill Millard, Phillip's brother, said the family had received a letter from an assistant of Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally advising "it is beyond the capability of this office to comply with your wishes and the requirements of the Mexican government."

But Davis said the letter did not represent Brown's views.

Gilmore Wants to Marry, Meet Johnny Cash
Condemned Killer Has Two Last Wishes

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (UPI) — If Gary Gilmore had his way he would have died today before a firing squad.

Instead Gilmore, 35, who was sentenced to death for murdering a Provo, Utah, motel clerk last July, will try to persuade a girl with whom he lived briefly during the summer to marry him.

Last week the Utah Supreme Court agreed by a 4-to-1 vote to grant Gilmore's request that he be allowed to die "like a man" without further delay. But Gov. Calvin Rampton stayed the execution until the state Board of Pardons reviews the case Wednesday.

Gilmore will be visited today by Nicole Barrett, 20, a divorcee and mother of two. Dennis Boaz, Gilmore's attorney, said his client told him, "I'm considering marrying Nicole. They have married other convicts in prison before. So I don't think they'll stand in my way."

The warden of the Utah State Prison said Gilmore has not filed a formal marriage request.

Gilmore fatally shot a motel clerk after Miss Barrett left him and at a time, his uncle Vern Damico says, when he was trying to patch up the relationship.

Damico said that after the breakup his nephew "went to hell."

"He thought a lot of that girl and she must have thought something of him or she wouldn't be doing what she's doing now (visiting Gilmore)," Damico said. He like to meet him before the end," Boaz said. He dispatched a telegram to the singer informing him of Gilmore's wish.

Gilmore and Miss Barrett have not met for two days since he was taken off "Death Watch" and put into a lesser security classification. As a result, Boaz said, Nicole was barred from visiting him during the weekend.

Boaz, who spent 3½ hours with Gilmore Sunday night, said his client would also like to meet singer Johnny Cash before he faces the firing squad.

"There is no greater Johnny Cash fan than Gary, and he'd

Pistol Fires During Skirmish with Suspect
Policeman Killed by Another Cop's Gun

NORTH MERRICK, N.Y. (UPI) — A Nassau County Police Officer was shot and killed late Sunday night by a bullet from another policeman's gun.

A youth from North Massapequa was arrested and charged in the case following a high-speed chase through three quiet Long Island communities, police said.

Police Officer George R. Kempen, 38, was pronounced dead at 10:20 p.m. at the Nassau County Medical Center in East Meadow, 35 minutes after he was shot in North Merrick, a Nassau County Police spokesman said.

Police said Kempen, a 15-year veteran of the department, was married to 36-year old Bernice Kempen, and had an 11-year old son, George.

The spokesman said 18-year old Christopher Doran, of Massapequa Park, a student at Berner High School in Massapequa, was charged with 2nd-degree murder, attempted escape, reckless endangerment, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and possession of marijuana.

The spokesman said Doran was spotted by Parkway Police about 9:30 p.m. heading eastbound on Southern State Parkway in a car with no tail lights. A radio check of the vehicle's license number showed it had been reported stolen, and the police tried to stop Doran.

He refused to pull over, police said, and the parkway police gave chase. One of the pursuing officers saw Doran appear to bend down, as if reaching for a weapon under the auto's seat. He radioed that the suspect might be armed.

Doran left the parkway at the Meadowbrook Road exit, and the chase, involving three parkway and three county police cars, wound its way through the narrow, tree-lined streets of Merrick, North Merrick and North Bellmore. Doran sideswiped several parkway police cars when they tried to crowd him to the curb, police said.

The spokesman said the chase returned to Meadowbrook Road. Five hundred feet north of Jerusalem Avenue in North Merrick, Doran was forced to a halt.

Parkway Police Officer Richard Kash, hearing the radio report the suspect might be armed, approached the vehicle, drew his weapon and steadied it with both hands.

Police said Doran tried to get out of the car, but was ordered to stay put and to keep his hands where they could be seen.

But, police say, he opened the car door and tried to get out. Kash kicked the door closed, ordering Doran not to move. Police said the youth again managed to open the door and succeeded in getting out. He grabbed both of Kash's hands and the revolver went off.

The single shot struck Kempen once in the upper left chest, just as he got out of his patrol car and before he could draw his revolver, police said.

Departing FDA Head Concerned About Cancer
Consumers Told to Mull Food Risks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The departing administrator of the Food and Drug Administration says society may have to weigh benefits against the risks from some food substances that might cause cancer.

"We build highways, we build bridges, we build buildings knowing full well what the statistical probability of people being killed is doing those things," Alexander Schmidt said in a farewell interview.

"So it is not reasonable to believe the use of chemicals in our society can be totally without risk."

Schmidt, who is returning to the University of Illinois Medical School Dec. 1 after more than three years at the FDA, noted that the National Cancer Institute now is testing 250 compounds found in the food and environment.

"As they and we begin testing the mutagenesis and carcinogenesis of everything around, we're going to be in for some rude shocks," he said.

"And the question that's posed ... is whether there can be an estimation of the risk of cancer accurate enough so that a decision could be made as to the level of risk or the level of no risk the public is willing to accept."

"Then I think the FDA will need and I hope will be able to get guidance as to whether for a certain benefit, a risk of say one in one or 10 million of one individual getting cancer in his lifetime is worth it."

"And if the answer to that question is no, then very clearly the FDA is going to start banning things right and left and will continue to do so."

Schmidt expressed hope the FDA can have a "workable scheme" in one or two years to determine risk levels.

Schmidt also said it might be better for the FDA to be headed by a "frankly political" chief who would take the criticism and heat while those under him "concentrated on consumer protection work."

He said his "greatest frustration in the job was the increasing amounts of time I've had to spend defending the agency and defending myself."

spokesman said. "Their findings will not be published before the ministerial meeting next month."

The ministerial meeting will open in the Persian Gulf state of Qatar Dec. 15.

OPEC ministers did not increase prices at their last two meetings, with Saudi Arabia largely responsible for the price freeze.

This time, however, the atmosphere is different. King Khaled of Saudi Arabia said in an interview published Sunday in New York his country would have liked an oil freeze until the end of 1977 but obligations to other OPEC members "may preclude such a freeze."

The Saudis are said to be agreeable now to what is called a "nominal" price increase, which oil experts said means a 10 per cent increase. This is well below what the hardliners, led by Iran, want.

U.S. officials said last week they are using world opinion and an appeal to the oil producers' own financial interests to head off an oil price increase.

The State Department estimates that a 5 per cent increase would cost oil importing nations $6 billion.

One U.S. official said that such a drain could have "catastrophic results" in countries teetering on insolvency — notably Italy, Britain and Portugal.

Oil Cartel Economists In Policy Huddle On Prices

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — The oil cartel's economic experts met today to decide on recommendations for the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, who may raise oil prices next month.

The Economic Commission of the 13-member OPEC met privately at OPEC's Vienna headquarters for a session expected to last several days.

"The members of the Economic Commission can only make recommendations," a

Brezhnev Arrives in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev arrived today on his first visit in five years to Yugoslavia for talks with President Tito. The two leaders greeted each other with smiles, bear hugs and kisses.

Although relations between Moscow and Belgrade have improved over the past year, their differences were expected to be the key issue during three days of talks.

Tito, 84, with a full head of dyed wavy red hair, appeared tanned and in good health following a two-month illness. Brezhnev, 69, looked pale and even older in comparison as he walked alongside Tito.

Brezhnev arrived aboard a special plane from Moscow and went immediately by motorcade to Tito's suburban White Palace residence to be welcomed.

Hundreds of persons, including children let out of school for the occasion, lined the motorcade route.

The talks between Brezhnev and Tito will be their first meeting since the conference of European Communist parties in June. A document adopted at the conference stipulated that Communist parties be allowed to follow independent paths, a victory for Tito.

Brezhnev and Tito bear hugged and kissed three times, smiling and greeting each other with apparent warmth. Guns boomed a 21-gun salute and a military band struck up the national anthems of both countries.

Relations between Belgrade and Moscow generally are good following a period of anti-Russian activity in Yugoslavia that forced Brezhnev to cancel a visit last spring.

Quebec Election Is A Toss-up

MONTREAL (UPI) — Quebec voters are angry with the Liberal government of Premier Robert Bourassa but may not be enough to oust him in favor of the separatist policy of the Parti Quebecois in today's provincial elections.

Despite warnings from Bourassa that a victory for Rene Levesque's Parti Quebecois will mean the separation of French-speaking Quebec from the rest of Canada, the electorate appears to want a change.

The latest poll gave 29.5 percent of the vote to the Parti Quebecois, 15.9 to the Liberals and 8.4 to the Rodrigue Biron's Union Nationale party. There were 30 per cent undecided and 6 per cent made no response, with the remainder of the vote accorded to a number of smaller parties.

But the same poll showed that even among declared Parti Quebecois supporters, only 49 per cent supported independence for Quebec.

In the closing days of a bitter campaign, Levesque's party tried to reassure nonseparatist voters by promising to submit the question of separation to a referendum in which two-thirds of the voters would have to favor secession before a PQ government would act.

Bourassa countered by saying the PQ had merely disguised its threat to Canada, and that its election would have disastrous economic consequences.

"What is at stake ... is Saturday winding up his campaign.

"The separatist threat is now more serious than three years ago, it is more serious now than six years ago."

Throughout the 28-day campaign, Levesque concentrated his fire on Liberal management of the economy, and the 10.1 per cent unemployment rate — issues having the greatest concern to 41 per cent of the electorate, according to the polls — and avoided discussing separatism.

Hotel Hosts Public Parlay on Lethal Illness

Hearing Set on Killer Disease

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, which closes this week after 72 years, today hosts a public discussion on the cause of the mysterious "Legionnaires' Disease" that claimed the hotel among its victims.

The disease killed 29 persons, 27 of whom were connected with a state American Legion convention that was headquartered at the hotel last July. About 180 other persons were made ill by the disease.

Hotel owners last week announced the Bellevue would close Thursday because the publicity linking it with the disease caused a sharp decline in business although no connection was found.

They said they had put nearly $1 million in the hotel over a three-month period to keep it alive, but had to give up and put it up for sale.

Seven scientists and doctors were scheduled to speak at the all-day conference, sponsored by the American Lung Association of Philadelphia and Montgomery Counties.

"Our intent was to pull together these people to see what the entire operation looked like," said Chalmers Stroup, executive director of the association.

Fredric Rieders, professor of pharmacology at Thomas Jefferson University, was scheduled to present a paper to the symposium on his finding that the deaths did not fit any pattern for chemical poison.

Rieders said poisons probably would have caused a bad taste or odor or some other notable reaction, and would have acted immediately rather than with a 10-day "quiet interval." Most victims came down with symptoms — chills and fever, chest pains and viral pneumonia — 10 days to two weeks after the convention.

The results of examinations by disease experts, who have yet to find a virus to explain the disease, will be examined, as well as recent theories about nickel carbonyl as a cause.

Black Nationalists Force Recess on Rhodesian Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Two black nationalist leaders forced adjournment of the Rhodesia talks on black majority rule today but conference chairman Ivor Richard said he was "much encouraged" despite the difficult negotiations.

Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo forced an adjournment of the plenary session after just 20 minutes on grounds that he had received no advance text of Richards compromise formula to settle the setting a target date for independence under a black majority government.

The formula had been accepted by the two other black leaders — Bishop Abel Muzorewa and Ndabani Sithole — as well as by the white minority government delegation.

"We've had an interesting morning, I'm much encouraged," Richard told newsmen after the session at the Palais des Nations, U.N. European headquarters and site of the talks.

"We've said that provided the necessary processes are completed, if they can be done in 15 months which is our estimate the date for independence will be the first of March, 1978," said the British conference chairman.

"If it can be done in 12 months the date for independence will be the first of December, 1977. "It really depends on how quickly the transitional government can get on and complete the constitutional process."

Mugabe and Nkomo said after the brief adjournment that Britain still "has not named a date." They want independence within one year and demand that Richard set a specific binding date.

Muzorewa and Sithole, the other two nationalist leaders at the talks, made brief statements following Richard's presentation of the British compromise — which said Dec. 1, 1977, would be a good date if independence can be arranged within one year, but that March 1, 1978, would be a fallback date in case the legal process takes longer.

Mugabe and Nkomo, both of whom claim control of the guerrilla forces in Rhodesia, demand independence within one year, but would agree to Richard's 15-month proposal as an alternative provided it be made specific and binding.

Britain, however, wants to avoid a rigid commitment because it could mean direct involvement in Rhodesia if delays occurred.

2-Hour Honeymoon After Convicted Killer Weds

MUNCIE, Ind. (UPI) — It was only a two-hour honeymoon and Michael Crisp, 29, and Kathy King, 26, had to spend it in front of a jail matron.

The couple was married Saturday in the city jail because the groom is a convicted murderer.

A jury found Crisp guilty last Tuesday of first-degree murder in the April 11 shooting death of John Joslin.

Delaware Superior Court Judge Mario Pieroni waived the usual three-day waiting period for the Muncie couple, because they apparently wished to be wed before the groom was sentenced. His sentencing is due shortly.

The ceremony was performed in a hallway of the jail building. The couple were allowed their limited privacy in one of the building's rooms.

The slaying occurred in the house of one of Crisp's former girlfriends. She found her house had been broken into when she returned home, so she asked Joslin to help her see what was amiss. Joslin was armed, but Crisp was too, and shot him.

Announcing another Army pay hike.

We've just raised your starting pay in the Army to $374 a month (before deductions). And if that doesn't sound like a lot, look at what you don't have to spend it on.

We provide you with meals, housing, medical and dental care, and low cost transportation.

If you want to start on your college degree in the Army, we pay up to 75% of the tuition for courses taken on post.

And when you take your yearly 30 day vacation, that's with pay, too.

What other offer on this page offers you all that?

YOUR HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, NOV. 16

Your Birthday Today: Suggests that the world about you is to be viewed as a classroom in which what you see has been put there specifically so you may learn. Circumstances all year are subject to shifts in direction, so you must latch on to opportunities while they last. Relationships absorb much stress without serious consequences. Today's natives seek personal or financial power, have stage presence, performing talents. Those born this year will change their aims repeatedly, be acquisitive but generous, public spirited.

Aries (March 21-April 19): If you mind your own business you probably won't be charged with expenses of details beyond your control. Seek competent medical, other technical advice.

Taurus (April 20-May 20):

Speculative urges are healthy. Take a calculated risk if you thoroughly understand the basic principles. Plan selling ventures; accept contingent responsibility.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Clear off neglected work, rearrange your household. Make your intentions plain to those who should know. Be all set to cope with temperamental reactions.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Self-indulgence and necessity blend, with the net result you spend beyond budget again. Buy educational materials and durable articles. No last-minute whims!

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Pride and competitive impulses lead you to scatter time, effort and money. Decide whether you're only fighting windmills. Withdraw if prospects are doubtful.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22):

You're likely on a self-assertive kick. Just be sure you are right, can defend your case with facts and figures. Organize a better, more definite program.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Intuition comes to good use as you continue a season-long phase of regrouping immediate resources. Surface appearances aren't reliable. Make no promises.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You're eligible for a windfall, some favorable surprise. Events include extra activity, added help from unexpected sources, a touch of glamor or unreality.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Investigate more before going into a proposal that is presented as "urgent." A hasty word or action taken too abruptly keeps friends from cooperating.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Optimism leads you past many items that stir doubts among associates. Survey of home situation reveals minor problems before they become serious.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your skill is tested in finding your way through unfamiliar procedures. Pause to check information. Don't permit contrary-minded people to upset you.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Because of unstable conditions business deals must be renegotiated. The more people involved, the more vague your role. Wait for new light on the subject.

TEEN FORUM

By JEAN ADAMS, Ph.D.

LOVE: (Q.) Kathy and I have been with each other for a year and a half. I have never felt this way before, but I'm just not sure it is love. I am asking you to explain what love is.

Kathy and I are 15 years old, and in a year and a half, we have not yet gotten bored with each other. We are both honor students and our love has helped our grades. —15 in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Love involves much more than a warm, good feeling. It certainly involves more than not getting bored with each other, which is the only description you offer of your feelings. Here are some other signs.

GAMBLER: (Q.) My mother has a problem and I want to help her but I don't know how. She is hooked on betting — horse races. Every time I try to tell her to stop, she jumps down my throat or smacks me around.

I can't tell my dad because he has some idea of what is going on and if I said anything, he would side with her. I just don't know what to do. —Close to Crazy in Connecticut.

(A.) The best way you can help your mother is not to accuse her, either in your conversation or in your thinking. Let your father handle any talk or action concerning her gambling. You can be fairly sure it is love if you keep Kathy upmost in your mind around the clock, if you want to share your thoughts and your time and your possessions with her, if she takes precedence when you must make a decision, and if you are willing to forgive her almost anything.

If she feels the same way about you, it is quite possible that you and Kathy love each other. This, however, does not mean that at some time in the future, each of you will not love someone else just as strongly, and possibly more.

Accept her as she is. Love her and talk to her about other things besides racing and betting. In loving her and in being kind to her, you will help her much more than you could help by reproaching her.

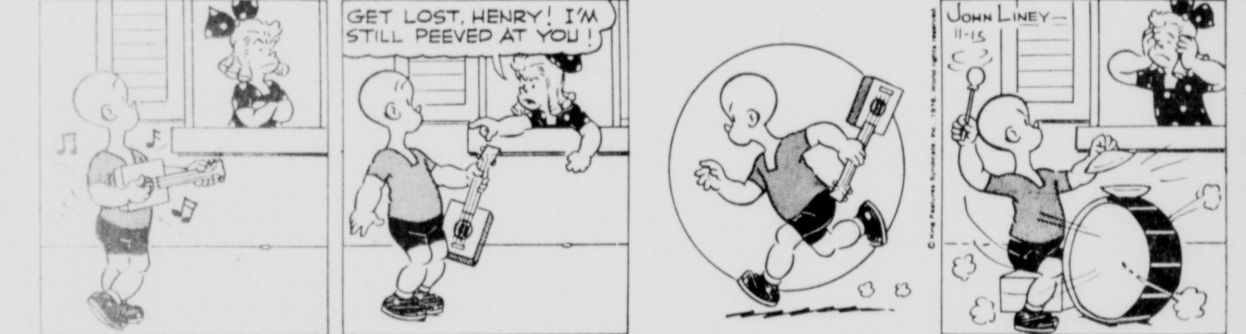

(Have a problem? Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Every letter is read, but because of the great number received, Dr. Adams cannot send personal replies.)

JACK OF DIAMONDS IS PLAYER'S ENEMY

A friend of mine complains that the jack of diamonds has it in for him. He gave me to-day's hand to prove his case, but I'm not completely convinced.

defeat the contract by leading a diamond since South surely has a high diamond or two for his strong bidding. West must try to prevent the establishment of a club.

If West switches to a trump at the third trick, South can set up a club but then cannot get back to dummy to cash it. Would West switch to trumps if he didn't have so comfortable a diamond lead? How can you doubt his word?

DAILY QUESTION

You are third hand, after two passes, holding: ♦J6
AKQJ963 ♦A72 ♠4. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. After partner's pass, slam is out of the question. A shutout bid is advisable since your hand provides rather poor defense against a bid in spades, club or even diamonds.

"Merit Delivers More Taste Than Higher Tar Cigarettes."

-American Institute of Consumer Opinion

Extensive taste testing shows Merit delivers flavor of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

The bottom line was conclusive:

In a series of taste tests conducted for MERIT by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion,* smokers from across the country judged MERIT to have more flavor than five leading low tar cigarette brands.

What's really startling—and of major importance to all smokers—is that MERIT has less tar than these five brands.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1976

9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Less tar. Yet more taste.

That's the report on a remarkable new taste process called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack extra flavor into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette. MERIT.

Unprecedented smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.
